

Your Tiny '500' Gift May Look Big to Needy

Donations to the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund, no matter how small, help make Christmas a brighter time for the area's 500 neediest families. Some who receive a helping hand tell their own stories in letters sent in after cheques are mailed out. "Our house was warm and cosy for the holiday as we were able to purchase some wood with part of the money," said the head of one family helped last year. "Each of our five kiddies had a present and we were able to have some of the little extras which mean so much to children at that time of year—thank you so very much." Another said: "Please relay to all the good Victoria citizens my warmest and heartfelt thanks for the wonderful and most welcome Christmas gift we received. It did indeed contribute in making a truly happy Christmas." These are two of the 500 reasons why everyone who is able should give a little to the 500 Fund. Donations may be mailed or brought to The Daily Colonist 500 Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, or left at the downtown office at 1215 Broad Street. Fund totals will be published each day. Donors are asked to specify whether they wish their names published with their donations in the lists appearing in the Colonist. Latest donations:

Shoot to Kill Canucks Told

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—United Nations forces were placed on emergency alert in this turbulent capital Wednesday.

Canadian signalmen were told to shoot to kill if attacked by wandering bands of Congolese soldiers who are still enraged by the death of one of their senior officers and apparently are bent on revenge.

Congolese soldiers made menacing gestures at the two top UN officials in the Congo by digging military emplacements near their homes.

Lt-Col. Joseph Kokolo, commander of the Leopoldville

garrison, and three other Congolese soldiers were killed Monday night in a battle with UN Tunisian troops.

The four were given a state funeral yesterday morning with about 100,000 Congolese watching. There were some cries of "death to the United Nations."

GUARD DOUBLED

Tension continued high in the city Wednesday. Congolese soldiers seized at least 40 UN vehicles, forcing their occupants out at gunpoint.

The Canadians, solidly set up in buildings described by Colonel Paul Smith, 57, Canadian signal unit commander, as "easy to defend and difficult to take," were reinforced by a platoon of tough British-trained Malayan jungle fighters and may later get a company of Tunisians to defend the perimeter of the school grounds.

MOVED BACK

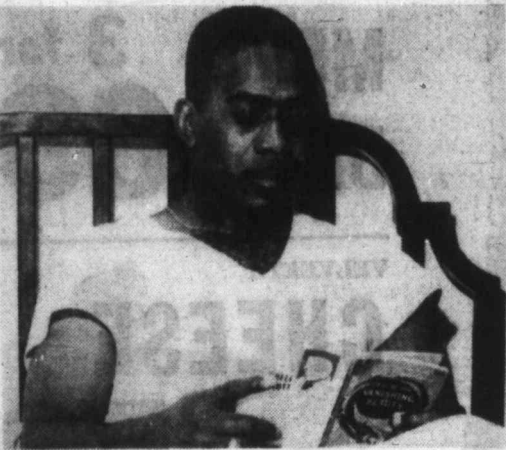

Orders to shoot to kill are to take effect only if Congolese soldiers attack the school and only when given by an officer.

Officers living in apartments near the school have moved back to the school quarters—two wings of dormitories linked to a central headquarters on the school grounds. Canadians are not permitted off the grounds except for shift changes at the UN headquarters message centre, about half a mile away.

WHEN OR HOW

The Canadians continue to wear side arms at all times, with officers and NCOs equipped with automatic pistols and other ranks with sub-machine guns. From the time they arrived here in August until Monday night's shooting, they had not been armed.

Ailing Miles Away

Full-Scale Commons Debate Likely on South Africa

Court Jails Friend

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man who obtained $20 from a Trail magistrate by claiming to be a friend of another magistrate was sentenced Wednesday to nine months in jail on four false pretences charges.

William McLeod, 38, pleaded guilty to obtaining $20 from a grocery store at Trail with a cheque endorsed by Magistrate Parker Williams. Magistrate Williams endorsed the cheque after McLeod said his car had broken down and he was a friend of Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in Nanaimo.

Special To The Colonist
OTTAWA — The Canadian House of Commons will probably engage in another full-scale debate on South Africa at this session.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker indicated in the Commons Wednesday that the members will be able to express their views "on matters of signal importance to the Commonwealth" before the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference next year, probably in March.

Space Photos Fuzzy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A space agency spokesman said yesterday "we're not getting the pictures we hoped to get" with the larger of two television cameras aboard the Tiro II weather satellite.

He said the reason has not been determined and that the trouble may clear up. The smaller of the cameras meanwhile is providing good pictures of the earth's cloud cover.

The satellite was launched at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and all instruments, it was said, appeared to be working normally.

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet news agency Tass reported the launching Wednesday of the United States Tiro II and described it as an "espionage" satellite.

The agency said it was admitted officially in the United States that Tiro satellites were designed for air espionage.

22 Voters 84 Votes

CHICAGO (UPI) — The questioning of 460 Chicago election judges about alleged vote frauds exploded yesterday when Mrs. Marie Suthers, only Republican member of the city election canvassing board, stormed out of the hearing room. Her Democratic colleagues refused to throw out returns from a precinct where 22 persons lived and 84 voted.

DR. E. N. BOETTCHER ... sheer fortune

GEORGE MASTERS ... $30,000 plant

Blackout Peril Jars Hospitals

Hospital authorities, alarmed by the recent four-hour power blackout that forced them to rely on battery-powered lamps, said yesterday they are taking steps to rectify a potentially dangerous situation by installing emergency power plants.

George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, announced yesterday a 250-horsepower generating plant costing an estimated $30,000 would be installed during construction of the new hospital wing.

LIGHTS, ELEVATOR

He said it would generate enough power to keep in operation during an emergency the operating rooms, case rooms, emergency department, refrigeration and heating, as well as corridor lighting and at least one elevator in each building.

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical superintendent at St. Joseph's Hospital, said it was "sheer good fortune" that no surgery was in progress when a truck hit a power pole at Bay and Douglas Nov. 10.

EMERGENCY PLANT

He said St. Joseph's Hospital was considering installing a small emergency plant that would keep one operating room and corridor lights working.

Dr. Boettcher said four hours was a "dangerously long" period for a major hospital to be without power.

INJURY AS WELL

"All too often a major power disruption is accompanied by serious injury," he said. "What would have happened if a crowded bus struck the power pole and 20 injured were rushed to a hospital without power?"

Flicker Of Life Fails

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN — A 23-year-old volunteer fireman was electrocuted here last night when he and three helpers leaned an aluminum ladder against a 6,000-volt power-line.

Dead is Alan Campbell, a native of Clinton, B.C., who was employed here by the Bank of Montreal.

GOOD CONDITION

In good condition in Duncan hospital is Robert Lewis, a fellow fireman, who was helping to raise the ladder in an effort to put out a chimney fire at a Chinatown apartment building.

Gordon and Gary Griffiths, two others who were helping, received only slight shocks.

HOLES IN SHOE

Gordon Griffiths found two holes burned in his shoe where the massive electrical charge apparently went to ground after passing through his body, but was left unscathed.

Duncan doctors worked for more than two hours in an attempt to fan a spark of life still left in Campbell's burned body.

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH

The volunteer fireman, who joined the department last February, was at first thought to have been killed instantly, but finally showed flickering response after 20 minutes of mouth-to-mouth respiration.

He was rushed to King's Daughters' Hospital where a team of doctors went to work but the hospital announced a short time later that Campbell had died.

SECOND REPORT

As his employer was about to telephone the single man's parents at Clinton and while Fire Chief George Sanderson was on his way back to the fire hall to advise fellow volunteers of the tragedy, a second report from the medical team indicated the victim was responding to heart massage.

But after massaging Campbell's heart for nearly an hour doctors pronounced the fireman dead.

BLINDING FLASH

Witnesses to the accident said the electricity seemed to jump several feet to the ladder before actual contact was made with the wires. The ladder was being raised to the second storey of the apartment when there was a blinding flash.

Campbell was not wearing the usual firemen's rubber boots at the time and the streets were wet from a light rain.

Canada's Reason

Congo Tangle Avoided

OTTAWA (UPI) — External Affairs Minister Green said yesterday Canada abstained on a UN vote to seat Congolese President Kasavubu because Canada does not want to get involved in the Congolese leadership dispute.

He told the Commons that Ireland and Sweden also took this stand Monday because the three countries were the only non-Afro-Asian nations with troops serving the UN in the Congo.

Defence Minister Harkness said Canadian troops will remain in their present barracks in the Congo even though the building was hit by several shells during an exchange of gunfire between Congolese and UN troops Monday night.

'Copped Out' for Light Term, Third Man Says

CALGARY (CP) — A third prisoner in two days told the appellate division of supreme court Tuesday he had "copped out" — pleaded guilty — because he had been told his sentence would be lighter.

John A. Channing, charged with possession of stolen goods, said in a letter to Chief Justice Clinton Ford that Medicine Hat police had told him a city magistrate would let him off more easily if he pleaded guilty.

It was the third such appeal heard by the court since sittings began Monday morning.

"I wonder," said Chief Justice Ford, "why so many prisoners are saying they were promised specific terms in jail before they went to court. This is getting under my skin."

"I realize that this charge has been levelled before, but it is heard awfully frequently this sitting." Channing's appeal against a three-year sentence was unanimously dismissed.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Radioactive garbage from nuclear bomb tests is shortening people's lives. Strontium-90, sifting down from the upper air, is collecting in the bones of children.

Settled in hot-spots of the skeleton, it will cause a number of cases of cancer.

Radioactive caesium and carbon from past bomb tests will cause babies to be born dead or deformed for generations to come.

How many deaths and deformities will there be? Some people contend that the number will be trifling.

How many deaths and deformities is a bomb test worth? Earl Bertrand-Russell, Dr. Albert Schweitzer and other distinguished opponents of bomb testing have pointed out that the decision is not a scientific one, but a moral one.

The big powers voluntarily stopped bomb testing, without an agreement, in 1958. There has been pressure from de-

Both Sides Alarmed

Possibly the Soviets have been testing bombs in secret. More likely, they have not. Both sides have been alarmed by the world-wide wave of public opinion against bomb tests. Both sides have been disturbed by the danger of harming their own populations.

The bomb-test suspension is enforced by mutual fear. If one starts again, the other will.

Can fear be harnessed as a means to further arms control?

Because of fear, the opponents now refrain from attacking one another. In the Korean War, they refrained from using nuclear arms. But nuclear arms are now being supplied to ground soldiers. Where do you draw the line between small atomic arms and big atomic arms? Isn't a limited

Self-Enforcing Pact

Make an agreement self-enforcing. If a demilitarized Poland began to rearm, the U.S. could move back into a base in France. Each violation would bring its own penalty.

Each side would destroy some nuclear arms by stages; place some weapons in international warehouses. The ultimate would be a low and stable level of national armament; or a United Nations army.

Red China would have to be brought into an arms agreement.

An independent group within the UN could propose an agreement involving real sacrifices to both East and West. The United States—which now has six per cent of the world's population and consumes 50 per cent of the world's goods—could multiply its aid to the poverty-stricken part of the world tenfold; offer to compete and to collaborate with Russia in industrializing backward countries.

Some observers feel that Russia is not as interested in promoting world Communism as it once was. Perhaps differences can be reduced and a light focused on the common human heritage, by cultural and trade exchanges.

These may be faint hopes. They involve danger. But the arms race is dangerous too. It may kill hundreds of millions of people. Now is the time for people to begin thinking about these matters. So far, most of us have been content to leave it to the experts. And those trusted experts have placed us all in peril of our lives.

Heart Must Rest

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between coronary occlusion and myocardial infarction? What is the treatment? If a person recovers sufficiently may he resume work if it is not strenuous?—Mrs. A. F."

Coronary occlusion and myocardial infarction are different names for different parts of the same occurrence. Suppose you cut your wrist quite badly, and the wound bled copiously. The cut would be the wound; the bleeding would be a haemorrhage.

SIMILAR TERMS

So we'll apply that same kind of terminology to your question. When an embolism of some sort shuts off the flow of blood through a branch of the coronary artery, which nourishes the heart muscle, that is a "coronary occlusion," or clogging of the coronary artery.

As a result, a portion of the heart muscle, being starved for blood and nourishment, dies. This is an "infarct," or "infarction."

The first and most important part of treatment is rest. The heart muscle, having been damaged, must be given as little work to do as possible until it has time to repair some of the damage, and to strengthen other parts of the network of arteries to make up for the damaged sector.

INHIBIT CLOTS

Medication is sometimes used to inhibit clot formation, in the reasonable hope that if clots cannot develop, they cannot clog the artery again. In a sense, this is locking the barn after the horse is stolen—but after all, there are still other horses in the barn! The heart, while damaged, is still carrying on its work.

After rest, and when the heart is steeper in its performance, the essential responsibility of the physician is in gauging the amount of recovery and knowing when it is safe for the patient to resume his activities.

NO SIMPLE RULES

There are no simple rules for this. The doctor must take into consideration the severity of the heart-attack, the person's age, his basic physical fitness, and some other dozens of factors, large and small, which all add up to giving the answer: How strenuous a life may the patient now lead?

Roughly three out of four, at least, will return to their accustomed work after recovering from a heart attack. This may or may not mean that the strenuousness of the work must be reduced.

GREAT DIFFERENCE

After all, there is a great difference in the amount of heavy strain imposed by different jobs. There is also a great deal of difference in the severity of heart attacks. We know now that a good many heart attacks are so slight that the victim does not realize they have occurred, but examinations long afterward disclose them.

In view of such facts, I can't give an absolute answer to the question of whether a person can resume his work after a heart attack. It depends. But all things properly considered, the answer is "yes" several times more often than "no."

Bee Potion Sold

LONDON—A Montreal doctor has purchased Mrs. Julia Owen's formula for treating arthritis and other ailments with bee venom.

The 73-year-old woman developed the formula at her home in Bromley, Kent. She breeds a special type of bees and feeds them with herbal poisons, varying the ingredients in accordance with the disease to be treated.

Dr. Joseph Salne, director of a Montreal clinic, who gave Mrs. Owen the cheque, said his organization plans to spend more than $1,000,000 developing the formula for use in a number of clinics throughout Canada.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif.—Tony Di Tardo, 85, plans to stay in San Quentin prison "Till The Boss calls me." He has been an inmate since 1920 when he shot his wife to death. He has turned down his ninth offer to leave the prison.

HAMILTON, Ont. (UPI)—Darlene Burns, 21, an attractive former bank teller was sentenced to nine months definite and six months indeterminate in reformatory yesterday for stealing nearly $8,000 from a Hamilton bank.

Miss Burns had pleaded guilty last week to the thefts. She said she had used the money to pay hospital bills for her ailing mother, who walks with the aid of two canes.

Magistrate Walter Tuchie said that since the accused was remanded in custody last week a further $3,600 has been reported missing from the bank. "This case has given me more concern than any in my experience on the bench," he said.

He said there was no hope of restitution.

Tory Policy 'Erratic'

QUEBEC (CP) — Economist Walter Gordon said Wednesday Canada's biggest economic troubles are a declining rate of per capita output and serious unemployment.

The problems will get bigger if Canada persists in restrictive monetary and exchange policies and high interest rates instead of those that will "promote growth and expansion throughout the whole economy," he told a chartered accountants' meeting.

"I believe the problem will get worse if in economic and financial matters the government continues to be erratic in its course, sometimes indecisive and over-cautious, sometimes imprudent and over-anxious," said Mr. Gordon, who headed the royal commission on Canada's economic prospects in 1955.

His short-term solutions:

1. Easier money policy and lower interest rates to stimulate manufacturing and production.

2. Balanced international trading, particularly with the U.S.

3. An extensive program of urban renewal and redevelopment, including construction of low-cost rental housing units.

4. A case could be made for a reduction in personal income tax "to stimulate the economy quickly."

Long-term solutions included better vocational or technical training and higher education.

Fears Unfounded

THE fear that the United States, in its quest for means of cutting down expenditures to bolster its own economy, may trim its military and financial support of NATO will be allayed by Mr. Lyndon Johnson's declaration that the new administration will stand firmly by the country's present Atlantic Alliance commitments.

The vice-president-elect's assurance on this point was made before the NATO council following consultation with Mr. Kennedy and can safely be taken as a definite policy statement.

For some time there has been heavy internal pressure brought to bear on the United States' government to reduce its contribution to NATO with the object of cutting down the ever growing expenditure of American dollars and, at the same time, forcing other member nations to assume a greater share of the responsibility.

Such well-publicized proposals gave rise to the speculation that President-elect Kennedy might easily follow such a course of action when he assumes office early next year. Politically, Mr. Kennedy would have been quite justified in repudiating the present policy, and it is a tribute to his grasp of international affairs that he has not.

Victoria's New Front Door

PLANS for improvements to the Patricia Bay Highway should take into account the fact that the highway soon will become the capital city's main entrance, if it isn't already. In half a year its role has been extended from that of the route to the International Airport and Sidney. Now its chief importance lies in the fact that it is the most direct vehicle route to the mainland and Vancouver.

The advent of the provincial government ferries has changed the whole character of an artery whose very title has become a misnomer. Traffic density, already grown enormously since the first two ferries went into service, is bound to go on increasing, and it should not be long before the road to Swartz Bay is carrying more motor traffic than the Trans-Canada Highway up-Island. In future more visitors will get their first impressions of the capital region from this route than from any other.

In keeping with the capital improvement plan, therefore, the approach highway from the provincial ferry terminus should be made both safe and attractive, and the four-lane divided highway idea which has been mooted should fill the bill admirably.

The present two-lane highway unquestionably is dangerous at peak periods, which now come much more often than before. It was bad enough when the speed limit was 50 miles an hour, but with it raised to 60 on long stretches the hazards have been multiplied.

Drivers held back by slower moving vehicles and feeling themselves entitled to travel at the legal limit run heavy risks when they attempt to overtake and pass on a two-lane road. With miles-long streams of traffic towards and away from the ferry terminus the danger becomes extreme. If the minister believes the 60-mile limit to be advisable he should see that adequate provision is made for it to be acted upon safely.

It appears reasonably certain that something is going to be done to improve this approach to the city. Whatever form the reconstruction takes, it should be worthy of the excellent ferry service which the province has provided for Victoria and of its newly acquired status as the capital city's front door.

They Are Not Scenery

THE Mounties have become too popular. They symbolize Canada as no other national feature does. As a result they are in great demand to act as "stookies," as it were, as backdrops for show business. Nothing sets the scene off so well as a scarlet-coated member of the RCMP.

If the tourist industry across the country had its way, for instance, the Mounties would go out of business as policemen and be set up as receptionists and photographic models.

Naturally enough the RCMP takes a dim view of this trend, and the local assistant commissioner's pointed words on the subject are worth noting. His force has a job to do and it's a serious job, as is all police work. The RCMP exists to maintain law and order in the areas of its jurisdiction, and this is a task that demands the use of all its manpower. It never has too much of this at any time.

There is a very practical aspect to dislike of show business. It costs money, public money. A parade in the rain at Vancouver on Saturday, for instance, might run up a bill of $1,500, not to speak of the loss of police man hours, also a financial debit. Perhaps taxpayers have overlooked this factor.

In addition, of course, it cheapens the prestige and dignity of the force to be extensively used merely as scenery, attractive though a Mountie always is. Nor is the adoption of a Mountie uniform by beauty queens and other irrelevant creatures any compliment to a fine organization.

In themselves the Mounties are the very spit of pageantry, but their participation in this guise properly belongs to official national and provincial occasions. Otherwise they should be left to the work they perform so well in the country's interest.

Welcome, Eskimos

THIS week Victoria welcomed to its balmy shores the banner bearers of Western Canadian football—the Edmonton Eskimos.

For the next few days they will bask in the Island's perpetual sunshine, relax in the civilized atmosphere of culture well preserved, glory in the unsurpassed scenery, partake of tea and crumpets whilst revelling in the finer nuances of chamber music and modulated accents—and incidentally getting in a spot of practice on the rugged field.

By Saturday, under such ideal conditions, they should have regained their composure, reached top form, and be ready for anything. And, of course, uppermost in their minds should be the memory that the last time they carried out their pre-Grey Cup training in Victoria they emerged champions of all Canada.

Though it is true that by local yardstick both contenders for Lord Grey's trophy are once again Eastern Canadian teams, the Eskimos will unquestionably take with them the support of the majority of Victorians. After all, although this city is by no means parochially minded, it is a well known fact that Edmonton is situated much further west in Eastern Canada than Ottawa.

Most Victoria residents will however be applauding the Eskimos for other reasons such as their fine gamesmanship, their outstanding spirit, their doggedness and their obvious will to win.

There also abounds here the shrewd knowledge that Edmonton is the better team . . .

Misgivings Over U.S. Action

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign Editor

ON Nov. 17, the United States responded speedily to a call for help from Guatemala and Nicaragua, dispatching an aircraft carrier and destroyers to Central American waters with orders to "seek out and prevent" any intervention by Communist-led forces in the internal affairs of the two countries.

The howls of outrage from Havana, Moscow and Peking were to be anticipated.

But even among the United States' friends there were misgivings.

Latin American governments generally refrained from comment. Others were not so reticent.

In Colombia, where the government wastes no love on Castro, the influential Bogota newspaper El Tiempo said the move "disturbs us greatly."

"The news is alarming," it said, "because the action was taken without taking the Organization of American States (OAS) into account, and without even consulting other governments of this hemisphere."

The Times of London said the action "might seem like snatching for a sledge hammer to crack peanuts. That is how a great many Latin Americans probably will regard it."

Even, Guatemala's president Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes expressed some misgivings. His request, he said, had been misunderstood. He said Guatemala did not need protection against attack. What it did need was advance warning of attack.

Since the swift U.S. action was certain to recall unpleasant memories of former U.S. "big stick" diplomacy in Latin America, it must be assumed that President Eisenhower and his advisers decided in advance that the emergency justified the risk of misunderstanding.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A COLLEAGUE says he thinks perhaps that Ottawa will beat Edmonton in the Grey Cup on Saturday, but he hopes not. His head is running counter to his heart.

I didn't ask him why but the reason can be deduced; he's a Westerner and there's a considerable gulf between the East and West. That is why, everyone from Winnipeg to Tofino, I expect—unless for a few traitors—will be backing Edmonton to win.

Canada is all-Canadian but sporting loyalties narrow down to geographical boundaries. Which reminds me I owe a friend a packet of cigarettes on last Saturday's game, having engaged in this large sinful wager on the side of Winnipeg. Like my colleague I was hedging my heart against my mind, thinking the Bombers would beat the Eskimos but glad to pay up if they didn't.

(After all I wasn't running risk of a big loss, was I?)

And all because Edmonton is closer to Victoria than Winnipeg.

Geography is the persuasive factor, although when it's a case of East versus West there are perhaps other connotations as well. None of us care much whether it's Toronto, Montreal or Ottawa that represents the East; they are all of a breed and somewhat different in character from Westerners.

Or so we are prone to think.

This progression of support as one follows the setting sun affects only the West. So that you see, all the West unites in defence of its own standard-bearers, this year happening to be the Edmonton team.

Mind you, for Victorians there is the added grace that the Eskimos have come to our city to be spiritually nourished against the great day, thus demonstrating their wisdom.

And a great day it is, fast putting the World Series into second place as a national attraction, which is as it should be.

Television has a lot to do with this, of course, introducing Canadian football to hosts of people who otherwise wouldn't know a lateral from a touchdown and probably wouldn't care. They find to their surprise that the game is really worth watching, and especially since the camera gives them a closer view than they might have if present in Empire Stadium itself.

And too, something not to be despised in this leisure-loving age, they can sit in more comfort.

This preference can be pushed too far, of course; if everybody stayed home to watch football on TV the game would disappear and there would be nothing to watch.

So it is that Western hearts will throb for Edmonton two days hence just as they would have done for Winnipeg had I won a packet of cigarettes. It's the West and a case of "Up Bombers and at 'Em."

It would have been nice had it been the Lions who were going to be up and at the Ottawa Rough Riders, and ordinarily speaking a lion should be able to cope with either an Eskimo, a bomber who didn't drop from the skies, or any Easterner borrowing the role of a roughrider.

But alas, our B.C. Lions, taking their cue from their recumbent stone neighbors, are not rampant enough yet. Maybe this is a treat fate holds yet in store, and Vancouver fans are certainly patient.

I'm too prudent to risk another packet of cigarettes, but I'll be whistling for the Eskimos myself just the same.

Reports from Ottawa

MEASURES "to encourage a greater participation by Canadians in the ownership and control of industry and resources in Canada" have been promised Parliament.

Considering what this may mean and the possible results, it could be the most important sentence in the Speech from the Throne.

The reason for these still nebulous measures is the belief of Prime Minister Diefenbaker—which has come to be shared by many Canadians—that American control of Canadian industries is dangerous because of made-in-U.S.A. management decisions, and because economic domination could lead to political domination.

But what the PM is trying to do is like defusing a live bomb. Misjudgment could be disastrous, intensifying the present business slowdown and antagonizing the new administration in Washington.

Canada's phenomenal industrial expansion has been financed largely by the more than $12,000,000,000 that Americans have invested in this country. This huge gamble on Canada's future has given them control of many basic industries. But without it Canada would be economically much weaker, and Canadian living standards much lower.

Diefenbaker's problem is how to Canadianize these industries without reducing the amount of capital being invested in Canadian development. One reason for unemployment is that business men have fallen about 32 per cent short of carrying out the capital investment plans they had in January. A reduction of U.S. capital inflow by "tough" measures to Canadianize U.S.-controlled industry would cause a worsening of the already flattened economy.

Judging by Diefenbaker's speeches in the past, basically he wants U.S. capital to operate in Canada through Canadian companies, and for Canadians to be permitted to buy perhaps 25 per cent of the equity shares in such companies.

The first objective is certainly reasonable. But U.S. tax law favors U.S. companies with foreign branches rather than foreign subsidiaries. Loss of this tax incentive so far as Canada is concerned could divert U.S. dollars elsewhere.

The second objective also is reasonable. But Canadian dollars invested in equity shares of U.S. subsidiaries will not be available for alternative investment in Canada. And there is no assurance that the U.S. dollars they replace would be re-invested in Canada.

Miscalculation could hurt Canada grievously: golden-egg geese have to be handled carefully lest they stop laying. Perhaps Diefenbaker has this deftness of hand—we won't be able to judge until he reveals how he proposes to encourage greater Canadian participation in foreign-controlled industries.

A man who will have great interest in whatever Diefenbaker proposes is the U.S. president-elect. Three years ago Sen. Kennedy took cognizance of Diefenbaker's apprehensions about U.S. capital in Canada, and in a speech at Fredericton counselled against "harassing controls." U.S. investment in Canada, Kennedy said, was only "a phantom American colonialism."

The PM has indicated he hopes to see Kennedy before the latter's inauguration. The whole problem needs to be talked over by the two leaders, and well weighed in Ottawa in the light of many considerations, before the government spells out just what this most indefinite sentence in the Throne Speech is to mean.

The Packack

Perfection Is Tiresome

By GREGORY CLARK

IF those responsible for TV only realized what a relief it is to the viewing public when fluffs occur, when things go wrong, when actors fumble their lines, when anything whatever happens to break the starchy, cut-and-dried perfection of the performance, much of the criticism of TV would vanish. For those responsible would then take the whole industry out of the hands of the engineers, technicians and boiler-makers who now dominate it and hand it over to those truly qualified—the creative artists to whom any and all creative media belong.

Perfection is one of the most tiresome of all human attributes, and only artists perceive this truth.

Why is it that the most certainly popular of all TV shows are the coverage of news events, actuality broadcasts, sporting events, and the major panel shows? It is because the engineers and technicians are performing their proper function and cannot swarm all over the producers with their passion for the cut-and-dried, their insistence upon what can and cannot be done. One of the truly comical spectacles of our time is to be seen in a TV studio when something goes slightly off the ordained script. You would think the roof had fallen in. Agony and anguish on every face. It never occurs to them what a flush of pleasurable relief has spread all over the viewing network.

Trial on Television

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

THE news that a United States broadcasting company has signed a contract with the government of Israel to make a complete film and television record of the trial of Adolf Eichmann is a further cause for concern about whether the trial will be fairly conducted.

Eichmann has already been convicted in a large part of the court of public opinion, on the basis of emotion rather than legal evidence, and there is now a danger that his appearance in the dock will be regarded as some sort of TV spectacular.

While there may be a case for making a film record of trials of his historical importance, the proper administration of justice tends to be a dull and prosaic affair, and can never be treated as a source of entertainment.

It is to be hoped that the court trying Eichmann will not allow itself to be influenced in any way by the presence of TV cameras, and will not be tempted to turn what should be a solemn and dignified occasion into a "good show."

France and Algeria

Another Korea?

By DUART FARQUHARSON (Concluded)

PARIS—For six years France fought the Algerian rebels secure in one conviction: military defeat was impossible. The war might last a long time but never could it be an Indo-Chinese war: the humiliation of a new Dien-Bien-Phu was excluded.

In the last few months this crumb of comfort has vanished. The news that the Algerian nationalists have agreed to receive the active aid of Communist China and Russia has for the first time raised the possibility of military defeat in some French minds. The danger, commented the weekly L'Express, is worse than it was in Indo-China. It is "Dien-Bien-Phu multiplied by Suez."

Time, it is now generally agreed, is not on the side of France. If France is to salvage something from this conflict which has drained its treasury and its soul it must make peace soon. If it does not, other powers will take the decision out of its hands. For Algeria today is already falling in the cold war.

A quick look at the military situation in North Africa would not appear to justify such pessimism. The rebel army in Algeria, once 30,000 strong, has been reduced to scattered bands of 10 to 20 men each, capable only of small ambushes and terrorist blows. The real forces, perhaps 15,000 strong, have been isolated behind French barbed wire in Tunisia and Morocco.

The resulting stalemate cannot be broken unless the nationalists receive massive Communist aid. Without it they cannot regain the initiative. But at the same time the French army of nearly 500,000 men cannot leave Algeria without seeing the rebels re-establish their military machine almost immediately.

What then is to be made of the Communists alliance that the Algerians are shouting to the world? The opinion of neutral observers is that it is no bluff but a last gamble on the part of the Algerians.

The Algerians are being cautious about the kind of aid they are expecting. The provisional government in Tunis will only say that it will be in the form of technicians rather than volunteers and the "right kind of weapons."

In publicizing their new union with the Communists before it is consummated there is little doubt most North Africans still hope the West will ride to the rescue before it is too late. The most pro-Western of all North African leaders, Habib Bourguiba, the president of Tunisia, said recently, "The West must not wait until the Chinese and Russians are here. That would mean another Korea or an Indo-China."

President de Gaulle himself is now widely believed by Paris observers to have decided that the time has come for a decisive bid to end the war. Just what he has in mind is, as always, shrouded in some confusion. Judging from his television speech, his use of the term "Algerian Republic," he intends to offer Algeria independence. But the hand-over, it is expected, would be offered not to the so-called provisional government of the FLN, but to another, yet to be elected, Algerian executive.

It is on this point that all previous offers to the rebels for peace talks have foundered. The rebels insist that they negotiate iron-clad guarantees of their political status as "trustees" of Algerian sovereignty before an agreement to lay down their arms. In his television speech President de Gaulle insisted once again that a cease-fire precedes negotiation.

This is the basic dilemma and there is no sign that the French leader has solved it. More and more people both inside and outside France are reaching the conclusion that the only way to stop the fighting is to have full and unrestricted negotiation with those who are actually doing the fighting on the Algerian side. Yet the mere suspicion that such negotiations were pending has twice touched off explosions on the extreme right wing.

On Dec. 5 the annual Algerian debate will once again come before the UN General Assembly. It is probably too soon to say how the West, how the United States, Britain and Canada, should vote on the Afro-Asian resolution. For the diplomats much will depend on the wording, as proposed and as amended, and on what President de Gaulle says and, more important, does before then.

It is no use saying "Why alienate the Afro-Asians by supporting France when de Gaulle himself has said he doesn't give a fig what the UN thinks." The world knows and the French president knows, although he does not yet choose to admit it, that the world and France are about to become very much bound up in Algeria.

The British, for one, appear to have decided that de Gaulle remains France's—and the West's only hope. The foreign office is bending over backwards to cheer his television speech as a distinct advance towards an Algerian solution.

Progress Diluted the Race Starting Decline of West

By PROF. C. S. BURCHILL

For three or four centuries the literature of the Western world has reflected the instinctive and buoyant optimism of modern European civilization. Recently this dominant mood is being replaced by a growing pessimism, and it is worth our while to review the basic conditions which gave rise to the optimistic outlook, and the factors which are now clouding it.

Of the reality of the moods themselves, there can be no doubt. Hugo Grotius, writing in the 17th century during the terrible devastation of the Thirty Years' War, was able to formulate a code of laws of war and peace, that he confidently expected would bring, and that did actually result in, an enormous improvement in the morals of international behavior and in the mitigation of military savagery.

Barbarism

Gibbon, a century later, completing his survey of the melancholy story of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, could afford an equally optimistic world-view. Roman civilization, he had concluded, had been destroyed by barbarism without, and superstition within, that civilization.

No such danger threatened the Western civilization of the 18th century.

Technically superior to the dwindling barbarian regions of the planet, and freed from superstition by the enlightenment of the Age of Reason, European civilization had no need to fear the fate of classical civilization.

Perfectible

The cheerful conviction that both man and the society in which man was organized were alike perfectible; that both were inevitably evolving towards perfection under the unremitting pressure of historical forces; and that the evolution could be accelerated by the conscious intervention of man himself, acting in the spheres of education and politics, is implicit in the writings of all the great social scientists, almost without exception, from Grotius to Keynes.

Pessimism

Now that we are within measurable distance of the ideal society dreamed of by the 18th century philosophers—a society in which universal education has banished ignorance and superstition, in which medical science has doubled or trebled the life span, and in which technology has almost banished poverty and want, this rosy optimism has strangely faded. Beginning a generation ago, with Spengler's Decline of the West, most of the serious writing in the field of the social sciences has reflected a profound and deepening pessimism.

Hope Abandoned

Today a very large number of people unquestioningly accept, and even plan for, the total destruction of human civilization, and for the biological degradation of the human remnant, through atomic war. Thousands of others have abandoned all hope for progress of mankind on this earth and have sought again the comforts of apocalyptic creeds, promising perfectibility in the next world and denying its possibility in this. Thousands more, having lost all faith in the possibilities of education, or of personal endeavor, or of political action, to avert catastrophe have sunk into the easy and narcotic lethargy offered by a bewildering variety of substitutes for thought and action—substitutes ranging from art or alcohol to television or spectator sports or suicide.

No Effort

We are making no real effort on the personal level, on the community level, or on the national level, to avert the catastrophe which our growing pessimism has led us to expect within our own lifetimes.

What is the basis for this enervating pessimism? What has gone wrong with the easy and arrogant confidence once so characteristic of Western civilization?

Inadequacy

Partly the answer lies, I think, in sheer biological inadequacy. Between them, medical science and productive technology have repealed for some generations now the law of natural selection. In harder times, most human weaklings died before they could reproduce themselves and so transmit to their offspring the defects of body or will or spirit that made them unable to cope with their environment.

A few generations ago, Europeans took their supremacy for granted. The only curiosity they felt about this superiority was why they were so superior. Montesquieu was a careful observer and something of an experimental scientist, but everything he saw confirmed his conviction of the superiority of the Western European, and particularly of the French, races.

Weak Texture

"The Indians are naturally a pusillanimous people," he wrote. "... nature having framed those people of a texture so weak as to fill them with timidity." "You must flay a Muscovite alive to make him feel!" "The people of Japan are of so stubborn and perverse a temper that neither their legislators nor magistechnology and education to previously backward areas, a similar advance will be made easy for the people of those areas, and this will cause certainly a relative decline and possibly even an absolute decline in Western power and well-being.

Can't Reverse

These parallel processes may be delayed by diplomacy or minor wars; all human achievement may be obliterated by a major war; but no war and no diplomacy can reverse the direction of development and turn it to the advantage of the West during the next two centuries.

During this difficult period, as Heilbroner points out, "the West will have need of two qualities; fortitude and understanding. It must come to see that because this is not a time of fulfillment does not mean that it is a time of waste. It is rather a time when the West must take upon itself a new and more difficult role in history than in the past; not that of leading in the van of history's forces under the banner of progress, but that of preserving from the ruthless onslaught of history's forces the integrity of the very idea of progress itself."

trates can put any confidence in them... and so on, chapter after chapter, substantiating such sweeping generalizations.

Montesquieu attributed Western European superiority to local peculiarities of soil and climate, and hardly at all to technical or social factors. A great many later geographers copied his errors. There was, in fact, a germ of truth in his analysis. For some 15 centuries the population of Western Europe, in spite of an enormously high birth rate, had remained virtually static. The principal causes of the correspondingly high death rate had been starvation, disease largely attributable to malnutrition, and personal violence.

Cunning, Dexterity

Shrewdness, industry and thrift could mitigate the dangers of starvation and disease; physical strength, cunning and dexterity reduced the danger of death by violence; the survivors displayed a larger measure of these qualities than a less rigorous environment would have produced. The Western European blend of races in the 17th and even in the 18th century was probably rather superior, insofar as these qualities denote superiority, to races bred in other environments. The West European environment changed rather abruptly after about 1500 AD. Deaths from starvation became unusual; deaths from disease steadily declined; deaths from personal violence among the civilian population fell sharply with improved administrative and police measures; military techniques, after the development of firearms, made survival far more dependent on luck and far less attributable to personal skill, strength or courage.

Populations of European origin grew very rapidly during the next five centuries, but they grew chiefly by preserving and multiplying those strains, which would earlier have been too weak, too stupid or too indolent to survive.

Decadent

Peoples with some valid claim to superiority soon became decadent, until in the 20th century they appear unable or unwilling to cope with their changed environment, and ready to be elbowed off the stage of history by more vigorous peoples, or to commit suicide rather than face contemporary reality.

For some five centuries the impersonal forces of history have operated to make it easy for the Western European peoples to advance their relative power and well-being. With the extension of modern

Paradise Lost

Though a Canadian, I have lived for many years in Europe and visited Victoria for the first time this summer. I was deeply impressed, as every visitor must be, by the beauties of Vancouver Island and particularly by the west coast and the magnificent scenery on the drive from Sproat Lake to Tofino.

But at the same time I was horrified by the destruction this stretch of country has suffered at the hands of the logging companies. Hills have been stripped of their trees and in some cases all that remains of a once wooded hillside is an untidy scattering of logs and blackened, half-burnt stumps of trees. Here the hand of man is rapidly changing a paradise into a waste land.

While travelling in Europe I saw the depredations that have been done in the past, particularly in Spain and Greece, to the countryside, and heard the bitter complaints of present inhabitants regarding the destruction their lands have suffered from the indifference and greed of their ancestors.

The past cannot be changed but in this so-called enlightened age and in a country like Canada which still possesses large stretches of unspoiled land and magnificent forest, surely every effort should be made to prevent such devastation and ruin. The subject of the west coast road has already been discussed in the newspapers but I feel its importance cannot be overstressed. What is destroyed now can never be replaced. Beauty is not expendable.

MOLLY MACKENZIE.

Product of U.S.A.

I always understood that British Columbia (the Okanagan Valley in particular) was the greatest producer of fruits and vegetables, until recently I discovered to my surprise that the U.S.A. has encroached on the B.C. markets by shipping fruit, spinach, honey and tomatoes into B.C. only to be packed in Canada or I should say B.C.

No wonder the poor producers cannot make any money. I have in front of me as I write a 15-fluid-oz. can of spinach and a 15-fluid-oz. can of Standby Canada fancy freestone peaches. The spinach can has printed on it "product of U.S.A. packed for International Brokerage Co., Toronto, Ont., Vancouver, B.C.; label litho in U.S.A." The peaches packed in Canada also by the same firm.

The container of honey called Empress brand, bearing practically the same trade mark as the famous "BeeCee" product, is marked "Product of U.S.A." and round the top edge of the container reads: "Container made in Canada."

If that is not an answer to your correspondent R. D. Barer re a loss of "Canadian sovereignty" I fail to see what is.

Big Demand Likely For $25,000 Loans

Bankers Hope Red Tape At Minimum

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

Victoria bankers said yesterday they anticipate "quite a demand" from local small businesses for the $25,000 maximum 10 years bank loans which the government is proposing in the Commons to guarantee.

One banker said he could think of quite a few of his customers who might be interested, but success of the new plan will depend on regulations. "If it is all bound up in red tape then its effectiveness will be limited," he said.

Drop in Algoma

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges closed lower. Trading was light.

Grain Market

WINNIPEG (CP) — A report of seven cargoes of wheat sold to Italy offset dull trading on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Gains at New York

NEW YORK (CP) — The stock market ended moderately higher. U.S. exchanges will be closed today for the American Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Vancover Trading

Vancover Trading was on a fairly wide front, and prices generally held fairly firm. Gains were made in Dominion Tar, Crown Zellerbach Canada, and Massey Ferguson.

Toronto Oils

Canadian General Electric is to supply $500,000 of equipment for Montreal's new second channel television station.

Calgary Livestock

CALGARY (CP) — Offerings: 1,300 cattle and 600 calves; prices were steady to stronger in spots in active trading.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal bond market was generally quiet with some long-term issues off 1/4 to 1/2.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

With the kind of reception he gets in Ottawa and the kind of government there is in Edmonton, it came as a surprise to no one when Premier Bennett went on record as saying he believed the Eskimos would win the Grey Cup.

Our nomination for the most optimistic person in 1960 is the lady who telephoned a couple of weeks back to say she had organized a group to go to the game Saturday and would we please order her 12 seats.

Lights wouldn't have to be too dim to mistake Jackie Parker for Danny Kaye. And one can say they do resemble each other in that they are both the best in their respective lines of endeavor.

Punter Vic Chapman doesn't get too many chances to play on offense but the Edmonton end, a Vancouver product who once played for the Lions, can be proud of the fact that he hasn't dropped a pass since 1956.

A B.C. Electric lineman—at least one presumes it was a lineman—took a long look at the Eskimos worked out yesterday at Royal Athletic Park when he was hoisted high above the fence in a "graffe." Assistant-manager Gordie Ingram also had a long look, probably just wondering if Ottawa Rough Riders had come up with something novel in spying.

Edmonton-linebacker Ted Tully, an ex-Victorian who used to swim at the YMCA, took time out yesterday for a visit with his former coach—none other, of course, than ever-cheerful Archie McKinnon, always happiest when one of his "boys" come back.

Jack Larscheid, a 162-pound halfback with Oakland Raiders of the American Football League who has been a stickout this season despite his lack of heft, is a young man with a wry approach.

"The bigger they are," he says, "the harder they hit." Larscheid has also disclosed he plans to take up weight-lifting during the winter in an effort to add eight more pounds. When asked what difference that would make inasmuch as he would then weigh only 170 pounds, he replied that "I'll look a lot better with my shirt off."

Eskimos will be outweighed by about an average of 15 pounds per player on Saturday, having no one to match the heft of Ottawa tackles Tom Jones and Angelo Mosca, who are credited with 275 and 270 pounds, respectively.

As a matter of fact, the Eskimos can't even match the 245-pound Milt Graham or the 240-pound Sam Scoecia with Toby Deese, 232, and Roger Nelson, 230, listed as their biggest men. But lack of beef hasn't prevented the Edmonton club from having the best defence against rushing in the WFLU. Speed is their answer to bulk.

Something which would improve things for those who will watch the Grey Cup game on television would be to have Ted Reynolds and Bill Good doing the commentaries. For this money they are the best pairing there is.

There can only be a handful who will quarrel with the Scherley awards this year. Ron Stewart is certainly as fine a Canadian player as there is and fearsome Herb Gray is a devastating type at one of football's most exciting, and important, positions—defensive end. As for Parker, he is, and always has been, the top player in the Canadian game.

A report going the rounds has Winnipeg offering lineman Frank Rigney, end Ernie Plitts and halfback Carver Shannon for Willie Fleming. Another report, which can be taken as gospel, says that if the first one is true, the B.C. Lions aren't about to make that deal.

Terry Baker, the 19-year-old sophomore tailback who makes Oregon State's single-wing attack click, is a left-handed passer but when he moves from gridiron to diamond, he stars as a right-handed pitcher.

Originator of the most obvious remark of the year has to be Ottawa-coach Frank Clair who offered "We're going to pay special attention to Jackie Parker" when asked about his game plans.

B.C. Lions may not have Urban Henry and Tom Hinton, two linemen who have made the WFLU all-stars, for next season but they could come up with something unexpectedly good in replacements.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Montreal, Chicago and Boston in tonight's NHL games. Batting average to date: At bat 176, hits 122, percentage .693.

Speaking Briefly

Chualvo Regains Title

George Chualvo of Toronto, first baseman for Philadelphia Phillies, regained the Canadian heavy-weight boxing championship last night at Montreal, using a busy and damaging left hand to gain an easy decision over the game but inert Bob Cleroux of Montreal. Chualvo took the title from Cleroux last Aug. 17 in a split decision. There was no split decision last night with two judges voting for Chualvo, 57-53, and the third scoring it 55-53. The Canadian Press scorecard was for Chualvo, 59-56. It was close for four rounds but Chualvo took over steadily. His best round was the seventh, when he had Cleroux reeling. Cleroux finished gamely and had Chualvo hanging on when the final—12th—round ended.

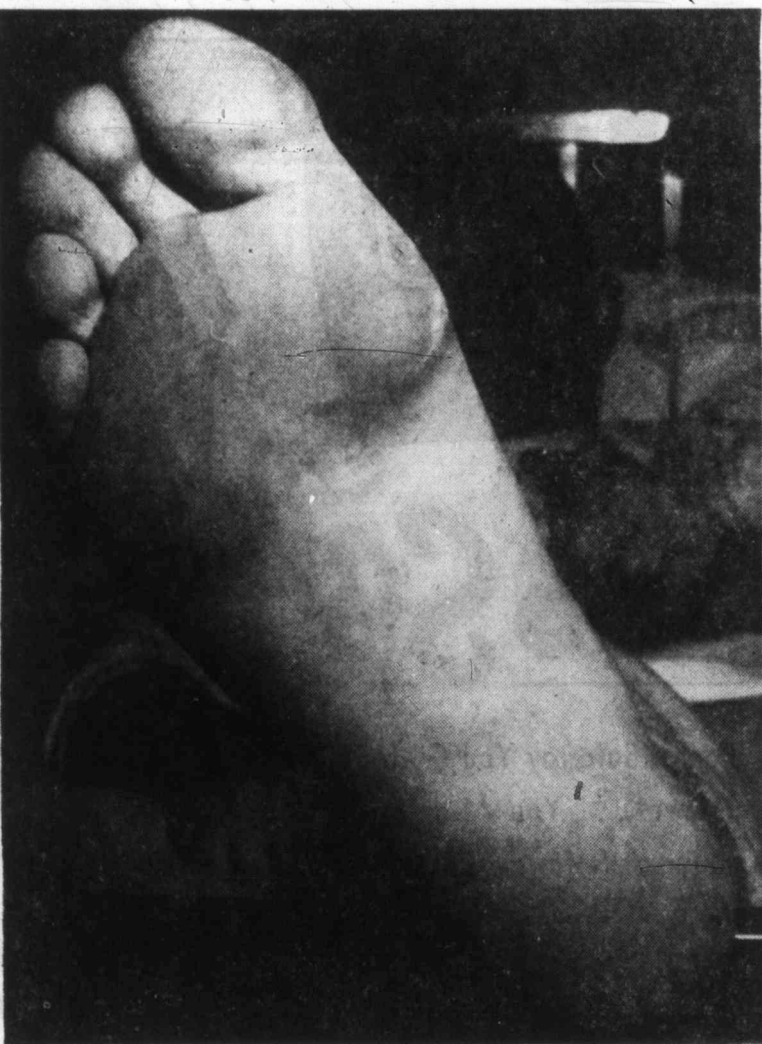

FRANK HOWARD, huge outfielder of the Los Angeles Dodgers, has been selected as rookie of the year in the National League. He got 12 of the 22 votes cast and closest

No Ordinary Foot, This

This looks just like any ordinary foot but it's the one which gave Edmonton Eskimos the chance to regain the Grey Cup in Vancouver on Saturday. It belongs to Tommy-Joe Coffey and he used it to kick the final goal which beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 4-2, in the deciding game of the Western Canada football final last Saturday. It betrayed Coffey earlier in the fourth quarter but he had it under control when he got a second chance with only 10 seconds left. And it could be needed against Ottawa Rough Riders.—(Ryan Bros. photo.)

Majors Still Consider Plan

Toronto Team Still Possible

NEW YORK (CP)—The Herald Tribune says the possibility that Toronto might replace Los Angeles in the expansion of the American League to 10 teams, loomed Wednesday night as National League opposition mounted against a proposal that both leagues expand to nine teams with an inter-league schedule.

Of Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League, the newspaper says:

"While his ball park does not come up to major league specifications in the matter of size, Cooke is believed to have more ambitious plans ready in the event that city was accepted by the majors."

The Herald Tribune quotes baseball commissioner Ford Frick as saying Wednesday that the restrictions covering the draft of minor league territory do not apply in Toronto's case. Frick said: "If a major league club wished to move its franchise to a minor league city it must file notice of its intentions in the period between Oct. 1 and Oct. 31. But this (the Toronto case) would not involve a franchise shift but the award of a new major league franchise to a minor league city. It would be up to Cooke to make terms with the International League but, obviously, Cooke would be satisfied with the arrangement."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commissioner Ford Frick proclaimed his neutrality Wednesday in the tug-of-war between the American and National Leagues but warned them both he'll fight any plan that smacks of a fly-by-night scheme.

Frick, who is sitting in the driver's seat now and knows it, once again reminded that he holds the deciding vote in the event the two major leagues cannot get together in their current controversy over adding new franchises.

"I'm in a unique but rather comfortable position," Frick said, regarding the present wrangle between the two leagues. "As Uncle Charlie Moran, the old umpire, used to say, 'It ain't nothin' until I call it.'"

Frick, without making direct reference to it at first, obviously was talking about the revolutionary proposal made by American League officials Tuesday. The AL moguls agreed to delay moving into Los Angeles until 1962 provided that the NL agree to expand to nine clubs and engage in inter-league competition in 1961.

"I don't think that's a perfect solution," the commissioner said, "but it gives them (the American League) time and I can support it."

Stars Blow Chance; Winnipeg Wins, 7-6 In Juvenile Final

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria All-Stars lost the Little Grey Cup game to Winnipeg Rams last night on a last-minute punt and an error in judgment. Final score was Rams 7, Victoria 6, and no one could say Rams were not full value for the win. But all-stars had a good chance to wipe out that winning point and force the game into overtime, only to blow it on a brief mental lapse.

With 40 seconds remaining, Rams had third down on the Victoria 10-yard line with three yards to go. Brian Ellwood kicked a short punt that went out of bounds in the end zone to put Rams ahead, 7-6, but officials ruled Winnipeg off-side on the play.

Then came the error. Instead of taking the penalty, nullifying the play and forcing Rams to kick again from five yards further out, all-stars refused the penalty and took possession of the ball on their own 25-yard line, trailing, 7-6.

Rams' Bob Shepherd intercepted a pass on the first play, and Winnipeg had the Western Canada juvenile Canadian football championship.

Had all-stars taken the penalty, there was a chance they could block the second kick, or run it out of the end zone, or even kick it out, giving Winnipeg possession with only seconds remaining.

But that is all hypothetical, and takes nothing away from Ron Mahoney's Rams. They are a talented and likeable bunch of youngsters who won because they deserved to win, and win or lose they helped accomplish the purpose of this first Little Grey Cup game.

NO CUP EITHER

Actually, the game was between the second-best team in Manitoba and the second-best team on Vancouver Island for an unofficial championship and a cup that doesn't even exist. But it was still a rousing success because it paved the way for a true western Canada championship next year, when there will be a Little Grey Cup and teams from Saskatchewan and Alberta, Manitoba and B.C. competing.

Despite a driving rain and bitterly-cold wind, 2,000 fans turned up at Royal Athletic Park, and watched a game that was close and interesting from start to finish.

Rams, playing a gambling game all the way, had two scoring drives nullified by fumbles in a scoreless first half, but opened up in the third quarter with a devastating trap play as run by the elusive Peter Kuntz.

JUST SHORT

After Murray Pastuck was just short on a 25-yard field goal attempt, Rams took over on their own five-yard line. Kuntz exploded for 33 yards on the trap play over tackle, then ran it again for 18 yards to the Victoria 54-yard line. Eight plays later he squirmed for three yards and an unconverted touchdown.

Jack Heath, Victoria's brilliant young fullback, got the all-stars' touchdown in the fourth quarter, taking two plays to carry it over from the Ram 10-yard line. A bad snap prevented Pastuck from getting away the kick on the converted attempt.

STANDOUTS

There were some standout individual efforts on both clubs. Heath was all-stars' only consistent running threat, and his 38-yard run to the Ram 42-yard line gave the club a good scoring change with five minutes left to play. Fred Holmes was a crushing tackler on defence.

For Rams there was Kuntz, quarterback Ken Werrun, fullback Harry Budgett and Mike Demchuck. The fullbacks did most of the slogging through the rain for Rams and got the major share of their yardage. Demchuck was especially effective, although he was playing his first game at fullback this season. Normally he is a defensive back.

Werrun impressed observers with his passing, although his completion average was poor. He threw three passes that went over 40 yards in the air and just missed the intended receivers.

turned up at Royal Athletic Park, and watched a game that was close and interesting from start to finish.

Rams, playing a gambling game all the way, had two scoring drives nullified by fumbles in a scoreless first half, but opened up in the third quarter with a devastating trap play as run by the elusive Peter Kuntz.

Naimark Rink Packs Power Kayos Trail's Reg Stone

VANCOUVER — Living up to pre-bonspiel expectations, a rink entered by Barry Naimark of Vancouver, 1959 B.C. champion, emerged Wednesday as the favorite to win top honors in the annual Totem Bonspiel.

Naimark's rink, which has Herb Olson of Edmonton, 1959 Alberta champion, as skip and two members of the 1960 Alberta champions, second Jim Shields and lead Fred Storey of Calgary on the front end, knocked Trail's Reg Stone right out of the bonspiel.

Stone was beaten in the Totem event, the No. 1 primary, by 9-7 and took a 12-8 trimming when he met Naimark later in the day in the Evergreen event, the No. 2 primary.

Also blasted out of the bonspiel as the number of unbeaten rinks was cut to three was Lyall Dagg of Vancouver, who had opened with six one-sided victories. Dagg was edged out, 7-6, by Jim Williams of Vancouver and H. Hunter of Regina.

Moving along with Naimark were Fred Tilling, the amazing Vancouver veteran who has several times been on a B.C. championship rink, and Bill Allan of Olds, Alberta, another real veteran.

Dean Hayes of Haney was ushered from the unbeaten class by Glen Harper of Duncan, who romped to a 7-3 win in the Evergreen event. Jim Linstead of Edmonton also lost his first game when he was beaten by Hayes, 7-6, in the Totem event.

Victoria's Tony Gutoski, 1958 B.C. champion who was beaten by Stone on Tuesday, stayed alive in two events. He bested Dr. Jack Geddes of Edmonton, 7-5, in the Totem event and in his first start in the Fraser event, knocked off Jim Vance of Prince Rupert, 10-1.

Elmer Hoffman's Victoria rink, which has Duncan's Harvey Hodge as vice-skip, scored two fine wins. It bested Roy Vinthers' strong Vancouver rink, 7-6, in the Pacific event and got by Billy Rose, a former Canadian champion, 8-5, in the Fraser event.

In the veterans' event, Heber Seller of Victoria bested Jack Cornett of Vancouver, 14-3.

Rinks will be dropping out regularly Thursday as play gets down to the quarter-finals in most events. All finals are scheduled for Friday night.

Warriors were all even at 3-3 with less than five minutes to play but couldn't hold the Stampede as rookie Cliff Bristow broke the tie and veteran Sid Finney clinched it with only 35 seconds left.

Scoring for the Stampede besides Finney and Bristow were rookie Gerry Esch and Ron Leopold and Lou Jankowski, wingers on the league's highest-scoring forward line. Leopold's goal was his 15th this season and Jankowski's his 13th. Leopold is leading the scoring race with 27 points from 18 games, two points ahead of Seattle's Rudy Fillion.

Parker Wins MVP Award

Canada's outstanding football player and the best Canadian player in Canadian football will be on opposite sides when the 1960 Grey Cup game is played in Vancouver Saturday.

Jackie Parker, quarterback of the Edmonton Eskimos, yesterday was announced as the winner of the Schenley Award for an unprecedented third time. In the same voting, selectors made Ron Stewart, the speedy and tricky halfback star of Ottawa Rough Riders, their choice as the standout Canadian in the game this year.

The third award, to the best

... top linesman

... best homebrew

lineman, was won by Herb Gray, hard-rock defensive end of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Parker's selection completed a big double for the former Mississippi State star who joined the Eskimos in 1954 to start a fabulous professional career which has stamped him as the greatest player ever in Canadian football.

Earlier this week he was named winner of the Jeff Nicklin Memorial Trophy as the most valuable player in the Western Interprovincial Football Union for the sixth time in the seven seasons he has played in the WIFU.

EVERY SEASON

The 28-year-old Parker has been selected to the WIFU all-star club in each of his seven seasons and many feel that he should have won the Schenley Award in 1956, as well as in 1957, 1958 and 1960.

He receives a $3,000 gold trophy, a $1,000 Canada Savings Bond and a diamond football tie clip. Finalist in the voting was Cookie Gilchrist, Toronto Argonauts' fullback, who set a new Big Four scoring record this season.

FIFTH TIME

It was the fifth time, in eight years that a Western player had won the Schenley Award, and all five times the winners have been members of the Edmonton Eskimos. Halfback Billy Vessels won it first in 1953 and fullback Johnny Bright won it last year.

The other winners—quarterback Sam Etcheverry in 1954, fullback Pat Abbruzzi in 1955 and end Hal Patterson in 1956—were all members of the Montreal Alouettes.

TWO FOR OTTAWA

Stewart won over Tony Pajackewski, a guard for Calgary Stampeders, and it gave Ottawa a second straight award in the homebrew category. Quarterback Russ Jackson, who will also be playing Saturday, won it last year. Other winners were fullback Gerry James of Winnipeg in 1954 and 1957, fullback Normie Kwong of Edmonton in 1955 and 1956 and end Ron Howell of Hamilton in 1958.

"Defeated finalist in the voting for the top linesman was Kaye Vaughn, veteran Ottawa tackle who won in 1956 and 1957. Other winners were Tex Coulter of Montreal in 1955, Don Luzzi of Calgary in 1958 and Roger Nelson of Edmonton in 1959.

JACKIE PARKER

You've Got to Respect Them

Stukus Likes Esks

By ANNIS STUKUS

VANCOUVER (TNS) —

What about this Ottawa Rough Rider football club as it gets ready for Vancouver and a head-on collision with the Edmonton Eskimos?

And what about those Esks? Did they really come out of nowhere to steal the piece of cake Winnipeg Blue Bombers thought they owned?

You've got to respect the way Edmonton fought their way to the Western Football Conference title that Winnipeg Blue Bombers had so long regarded as their personal property.

LOT MORE

I suggest that Edmonton have a lot more going for them than just Jackie Parker and Johnny Bright.

I also suggest that Ottawa Rough Riders are the most worthy foe the east could send along.

I think this game next Saturday will be a classic and I'm looking forward to the first head-on clash between the two lines.

Ottawa had the best line in the east. It was that feature of their club that brought the Riders into the Grey Cup final. In many ways, Edmonton and Ottawa could be likened as twins. Both would rather run the ball down your throat, trampling people enroute, than pass. Both can take to the air lanes when the time comes to implement their running attack.

THEY'LL FIGHT

The Ottawa club can fight back when in trouble as they showed last Sunday afternoon. They were in deep trouble with Argonauts holding a 20-0 lead and pressing for more.

The Riders hadn't played well in the first 40 minutes of the game.

I think Kaye Vaughn had the best answer to their troubles. "Fred Robinson and I have had 14 years of professional football between us. We've been in a lot of tight corners in that time. Yet Sunday, between us we 'broke' a half-dozen plays," Vaughn stated.

(Breaking a play in football parlance means spoiling the play by either starting too soon; blocking in the wrong direction or just plain missing an assignment.)

Then when things looked blackest, the Riders snapped out of it to go on for the win.

GIVE THEM CREDIT

You can talk about Argos missing the boat on two improbable plays—an intercepted screen pass and the Simpson sleeper play—but Ottawa had to be given credit for alertness to take advantage of the opportunities.

Ottawa have a good pair of defensive ends in Lou Bruce and Jim Reynolds, something you need against the Edmonton Eskimos if you want to stand a chance against Parker and company.

YOU CAN PASS

I have a suspicion you can pass against Edmonton—in certain areas I think they still play their defences to give the opposition the short passes as they protect against the long pass for the quick touchdown.

Ottawa's biggest problem is that they haven't run across anything like Parker in their journey this year. I don't think Bernie Faloney is in the same league as Parker running from scrimmage, yet I can remember Faloney giving the Ottawa defenders a bad time.

I'd like to check just a little more on how both Edmonton and Ottawa came out of their final games. I don't think either of them got away unscathed.

Right now, however, I've got to go with Edmonton in the big one because the Esks have Parker. I don't think I'll change my mind before Saturday.

Argos Reject Bomber Plan

Toronto Argos have turned down a request for a post-season game with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, mainly on the grounds that it would be impossible to re-assemble their club.

Argos have a good pair of defensive ends in Lou Bruce and Jim Reynolds, something you need against the Edmon-

Three Eskimos on Sick List; Players Try Fishing Today

There's a time and place for everything in Edmonton Eskimos' countdown to Grey Cup day—even time to go fishing.

For Eskimos, in the city for final preparations for Saturday's head-on meeting with Ottawa Rough Riders in Vancouver, it will be another brisk two-hour practice at Royal Athletic Park this morning. However, this afternoon the routine will be altered as most of the team goes on a fishing trip out of Brentwood.

Bud Blackburn of Anglers' Rentals and Saanich Inlet boatshop operators laid out the trip through the Daily Colonist.

Only absentees from the fishing outing will be coach Eagle Keys and Jackie Parker, who will be travelling to Vancouver for the Schenley awards presentation, Rollie Miles, Roger Nelson and Jim Letcavits, who will be back in the Empress Hotel trying to shake off the effects of a strep throat infection.

The throat infection bothering the three Eskimos is not expected to keep them out of the lineup Saturday. However, they're having trouble eating and breathing, so practices are out of the question.

ONCE BEFORE

For Miles, the attack was a repetition of the illness that struck him before the third game of the western final series with Winnipeg.

Biggest worry about the infection to Coach Keys, and his assistants Bob Kellogg and Dan Edwards is that it might spread even further, thereby hampering practices even more.

GOOD PRACTICE

Yesterday's workout, behind the closed gates at Royal Athletic Park, seemed to go off very well. The rain held off and the players, in sweat suits and cleats kept to one end of the field and practiced defences for known Ottawa plays, among other things.

The morning was spent at a three-hour "skull session" in the lower floor of the Empress Hotel, team headquarters. Films were run over and over. This morning's practice, also at Royal Athletic Park, starts at 10:30 and like Wednesday's will be closed to the general public.

CONFIDENCE

There seems to be a feeling of quiet confidence among the players.

Pointing specialist Vic Chapman figures the Ottawa team to be much like Calgary Stampeders, knocked off handily by Eskimos in the western semi-finals.

"The only guy Calgary hasn't got a counterpart for is Ron Stewart, with his outside stuff. He could give us trouble," said Vic.

The whole team was pleased about Parker winning the Schenley prize for the third time.

"It's wonderful. I'm really honored. I really didn't think they'd vote for the same person three times," said the obviously elated Edmonton quarterback.

"Cookie is a great player," he concluded, speaking of his main opponent for the most valuable player award.

Late arrival in the Edmonton camp last night was fullback Johnny Bright, who had stayed back in Edmonton for further treatment on a severe charley-horse. He was accompanied by the team physician, Dr. Michael Emery.

Dr. Emery took over the treatment of the players with the throat infection on his arrival.

Grey Cup tickets anybody? B.C. Lions have announced that 1,300 of the coveted pasteboards go on sale for the general public in Vancouver this morning at 9. They are left over from Lions' allotment. They'll be sold on a first-come first-served basis.

Grey Cup casualty: Rose Gierschmann, Miss Hamilton Tiger-Cat, has been ordered to bed with an ankle infection.

Western bettors have made Edmonton 6½-point favorites and in the east they're favored by 3½ points.

Weatherman won't make much of a promise for good weather at Empire Stadium Saturday. The parade and game, he said, might be fitted in between two rainstorms in the area.

Jean's Grey Cup Trip Very Special Occasion

EDMONTON (CP)—One of Edmonton Eskimos' most ardent fans will be leaving here Saturday morning for the Grey Cup in Vancouver. Jean Mark, 20, will be accompanied by a nursing aide and a plastic lung.

Jean, paralyzed for seven years after being stricken by polio, is scheduled to leave the new International Airport at 7 a.m.

Jean missed only three of Eskimos' home games this season and made her first trip out of town in eight years when she went to Calgary Nov. 5 to watch Edmonton win the Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final against the Stampeders.

She watches the games from a wheelchair. Paralyzed from the neck down, Jean can breathe without help for several hours at a time, but requires the help of an iron or plastic lung at least part of each day. She sleeps in an iron lung.

Arrangements for the Vancouver trip were made through the co-operation of the University of Alberta Hospital staff, fellow patients and Mrs. E. W. Kelly, who was in charge of raising money for "this very special occasion."

A Grade 9 student when she was stricken, Jean has since completed her Grade 9 courses and is working on Grade 10 courses now. She dictates her correspondence lessons to Mrs. James Calder, a friend who visits her once a week.

and led Rangers to a 6-3 National Hockey League victory over Boston Bruins.

Rangers turned a close game into a rout with three goals in the final period to move within one point of the fifth-place Bruins. The clubs meet again tonight at Boston.

A crowd of 11,065 saw Camille Henry break the 3-3 tie at 4:22 of the third period on a pass from Andy Heberton. Bathgate and Dean Prentice added clinchers, with Bathgate completing his hat trick when goalie Bruce Gamble accidentally kicked the puck into his own net as the Ranger forward passed it across the goal-mouth.

Rangers led, 2-0, early in the game on goals by Bathgate and Heberton. Leo Labine and Charlie Burns tied it up and bathgate put New York ahead again before Jerry Toppazzini scored for Bruins.

Willie O'Ree, the first Negro to play in the NHL, was in the Boston lineup, his second shot for a berth in the big league.

SEATTLE (CP)—Bud Poile,

general manager of Edmonton

Flyers of the Western Hockey

League, had a bad two days here last Friday and Saturday.

Not only did his Flyers lose two straight, but he was served with a summons.

growth of a ruckus in which a woman spectator was in-

ton game last Jan. 17. It directed Poile to appear if and when

Lawyers for Miss Mary Lee

Alexander, 26, of Seattle, recently prepared a $6,190 damage suit against the Seattle and Edmonton clubs. She asked $6,000 for pain and anguish, $160 for medical expenses and $30 for lost wages.

The suit accused both clubs of negligence in failing to protect spectators adequately.

Miss Alexander suffered a head wound when she was hit by a hockey stick, wielded by

Edmonton player Chuck

Holmes. The cut required two stitches to close.

Holmes had to be given

sequently blamed the team's

4-3 overtime loss to Holmes' absence.

Miss Alexander, sitting in

deliberately struck her. Officials of the two clubs said

Holmes was thrown off balance and he stuck accidentally hit the young woman as he fell.

Earth Ships May Visit Several Baby Planets

By DR. PETER MILLMAN
Last of a Series

In our survey of the worlds of space we have visited all the great planets of the solar system. As a contrast we now take a look at some of the baby planets, the small members of the group called asteroids. In future space flights these might well be visited by ships from earth.

An interesting feature of the asteroids is that some of them approach closer to earth than any of the heavenly bodies apart from the moon and meteors. Hence they can be thought of as among our closest neighbors in space. More than 1,500 different asteroids have been discovered. The great majority lie beyond the orbit of Mars.

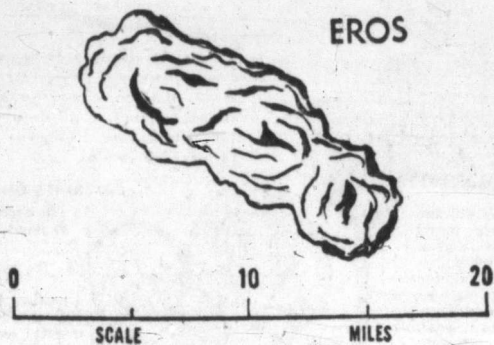

One of the most famous asteroids is Eros, first seen in 1898. This is Asteroid No. 433 and at the time of discovery was quite near the earth. In 1931 Eros came still closer, to within 17,000,000 miles of us. This was close enough to show that it is an irregular, long-shaped piece of rock, 15 miles long and about five miles wide.

This strange world turns end over end in a period of five hours and 16 minutes, and this results in rapid changes of brightness. It is most brilliant when seen broadside to us, and faintest when seen end-on.

The force of gravity on such a small world is very low, somewhere between one and two-thousandths the gravity at the surface of the earth. The effective weight of an average person would be only an ounce or two on Eros. If visiting this asteroid you would have to be careful not to jump too hard, or you might fly right off into space.

The force of gravity is still further reduced by the centrifugal force of the rapid spin of Eros about its axis. Some very small asteroids rotate so rapidly that there is danger of loose material at the equator flying off into space. Even the biggest asteroid, Ceres, with a diameter of 485 miles, is far too small to retain an atmosphere.

Other asteroids can come even closer than Eros. Amor comes within 10,000,000 miles, Apollo within 7,000,000 miles, and Adonis within 1,500,000 miles. The record close approach was made by the little asteroid Hermes, which is only one mile in diameter. In 1937 Hermes came within 400,000 miles of the earth. Under the most favorable circumstances this tiny planet could come within 200,000 miles of the earth—that is, a little closer than the moon.

Most of the small asteroids show their jagged, irregular shape by their periodic changes in brightness as they rotate rapidly. The asteroids could be fragments of a much larger planet that disintegrated, or they might just be material that never collected into a larger unit.

By making observations of the asteroids nearest the earth, the scale of the solar system can be found more accurately than in any other way. The distance from the earth to the asteroid is measured by making observations from various places on earth. Since all the orbits in the solar system can be drawn accurately to a relative scale, all that is needed is the absolute distance between two orbits (in this case the earth's and the asteroid's) to give the absolute scale of the solar system. This, in turn, gives the scale of the universe.

Nurses 'Tune-In' Patients

NEW YORK (AP)—An electronic system that provides constant watch over seriously-ill patients went into operation Tuesday at New York's Roosevelt Hospital. A pilot study serving a 17-bed unit was begun.

It works this way: A nurse sits at a monitoring board and, with the flick of a dial, receives a constantly flowing stream of information originating from the bedside of patients.

Flashing on the monitoring boards are reports on pulse rates, respiration and temperature—as well as constant readings from electrocardiograms and electroencephalograms.

Illinois May Swing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican party's top legal adviser said yesterday he has "no doubt" that a recount of allegedly fraudulent and irregular ballots in Illinois could swing the state's 27 presidential electoral votes from Sen. John F. Kennedy to Richard M. Nixon.

$1,400,000 for Modern Art

LONDON, (UPI)—Two hundred modern and impressionist paintings were sold Wednesday for more than $1,400,000 in a day of sales at Sotheby's auction rooms that totalled $1,537,144.

A spokesman said this was the fifth largest art sale ever handled by the firm. The four top-priced pictures went to U.S. buyers.

A member of the Coe family of Cleveland bought back a Gauguin and a Cezanne being sold by the heirs of the late Ralph Coe, paying $106,400.

The Gauguin painting was "Women sitting in the shade of the palm trees" and the Cezanne was "The abandoned house at Tholonet." A Renoir which brought $106,400 went to the Schone-dence, R.I. A Sotheby spokesman believed the price was a world record for a Rousseau. A Claude Monet from the collection of Lawrence Viles, Charlottesville, Va., showing the "Grove of Nymphs," sold for $50,400.

Garden Notes

Sweet and Sours

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

For the past week now we have been kicking around the problem of selecting and buying fruit trees for the home garden. So far, we have discussed apples, pears, plums and peaches; today I think we might take a look at the cherries.

Right off the bat I think I should warn against attempting to grow sweet cherries in the small backyard garden. Cherries are not available in dwarf form and a full-grown sweet cherry makes a big tree, often as much as 25 feet tall, with a 20-foot spread. Moreover, all the sweet cherries must have a husband, which means growing at least two trees if you expect to get any fruit. Sometimes even two trees aren't enough, for some of our best sweet cherries don't get along very well together, and it is necessary to plant a third variety to provide pollen for the first two.

Cherry trees are difficult to pick because of their size and I have yet to find any really efficient and practicable way of protecting the fruit from the birds except by draping them with fish nets.

Sour cherries are a much more practicable proposition for the trees are much smaller and, as they don't need cross-pollination from another variety, a single tree can yield quite a good crop. The fruit is excellent for pies, jam and preserves, but not sweet enough to eat out of hand.

Sweet cherries also are rather fussy about their soil and need a deep, rich, naturally drained plot. Before attempting this fruit, it is a good idea to use a soil auger or a crowbar to probe deeply, for much of our soil hereabouts has a layer of impervious hardpan 1 1/2 or 2 feet down, which spells sure death to sweet cherries. The sour cherries are not so particular and can get along nicely with only three to four feet of good soil under them.

The most popular of our sweet cherries is Bing, bearing large round fruit, glossy and almost black when fully ripe, with firm flesh and delicious flavor. The trees are very vigorous and productive in suitable soil, ripening their fruit around the end of July.

Lambert makes even larger fruit than Bing, heart-shaped and with a purple shade to the skin, firm-fleshed and very sweet. Ripens about two weeks later than Bing.

Bing and Lambert are primarily eating cherries, not too good for cooking or preserving. Royal Anne, known in Europe as Napoleon Bigarreau, is an all-purpose cherry, equally good for canning, jam or eating out of hand. The fruit is yellow with bright red cheeks and a singularly refreshing flavor, ripening about the third week of July.

Bing, Lambert and Royal Anne are inter-sterile, which means that none is any good as a mate to the other. In fact, you could grow all three trees together and still get no fruit for lack of pollination. A good "universal donor" for any or all of these varieties is the variety Van, a firm black cherry developed at the experimental station in Summerland, B.C.

For this reason, whatever cherry varieties you plant, one of the trees should be Van. Deacon is another good pollinizer, although I think I have some slight preference for the flavor of Van.

Of the sour cherries, Montmorency and English Morello are our best-known varieties. Morello is the best for small gardens, making a tree hardly eight feet tall and thriving even in partial shade. Olivet is the sweetest of the sour cherries, sweet enough to eat out of hand, and is especially good for canning because the stones can be pulled right out without breaking the fruit.

Hollywood Today

By Sheila Graham

Penny Pincher on the Set

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Producer Carl Forman is trying something revolutionary in his next picture, "The Human Kind." He will see how cheaply he can make it. His last, "Guns of Navarone," cost around $8,000,000. John Wayne's film, "The Alamo," ran to $12,000,000. Metro's "Ben-Hur" $15,000,000. Carl's new picture will cost a mere $280,000, maybe less.

I was shattered to read in Maurice Zolotow's biography of Marilyn Monroe that those zealous philosophy books she used to carry around were merely part of her pattern to seem interesting. . . . Reminded me that a local actor, when asked "Why don't you like Jeff Chandler?" replied, "He's always got a book under his arm!"

Dana Wynters, in the two weeks she has been working with Danny Kaye in "On the Double," has shed 10 pounds. And she was thin to begin with!

Walter Slezak's son and daughter flew to Rome to spend U.S. Thanksgiving with the portly performer. Walter has a good role in "Come September" with Rock Hudson and Gina Lollobrigida.

Princess Grace Kelly admits about her lovely life, "I've been having my cake and eating it."

I can't remember when a movie stirred me as much as Ingmar Bergman's newest, "The Virgin Spring." Just can't forget it. And Hollywood is beckoning Max von Sydow, who has its most important role as the father who avenges his daughter's violation and murder.

The beating of Nancy Kwan by the sailor in "The World of Suzie Wong" was cut in half in the film as released to the movie houses. It was too brutal. What's retained is bad enough.

The Sally Benson screenplay, "Chocolates for Breakfast," has a pretty movie producer, Bernice Block, in charge. She was asked whether or not an attractive woman producer has the same problems as an attractive actress. To which Miss Block replied, "If you mean do I get chased around desks sometimes, the answer is yes."

Diane Varsi can't understand why people keep saying she will return to Hollywood. Diane says she is very happy with life in the San Francisco suburb where she was brought up, and where she is now writing poetry and teaching her son to play the piano. "I just don't want to be an actress," Diane told an old friend who visited her last week. Strange how the myth of Miss Varsi lingers on, just as it did with James Dean. Only Jimmy is dead and Diane is very much alive.

Sometimes I think Marilyn Monroe would be happier if she gave up her acting career. The tension and fear of facing a camera often makes her ill and gives her a rash. Miss Varsi used to have skin trouble when she was an actress. Now it's all cleared up.

Olympic gold medal winner Rafer Johnson, now an actor, was asked if he'd quit moviemaking once he won an Oscar, as he quit athletics after winning his first gold medal. "Oh gosh, no," said Rafer. "I'm going to try to win an Oscar, then another Oscar, and then another. But, he added, "I've discovered that acting is tough work."

British actor Jack Hawkins had what he thought was a great idea—form a company, in the name of his children, have it pay him a small salary from his earnings.

and have his children pick up the company profits which would really be his salary, if you get what I mean. The judge sympathized but didn't see it the same way.

If the French government ban against Simone Signoret continues, it wouldn't surprise me if she tries to take out U.S. citizenship. I don't know how her political beliefs would affect this, but apparently Simone can get all the movies she wants to make in Hollywood. Coming up at Warner's is "Devil in Buck's County."

Sophia Loren, who isn't usually temperamental, walked out of Sam Bronston's "El Cid" with Charlton Heston when weather problems delayed the picture in Spain. But she walked back when Sam promised priority to her scenes so she can report in time to Rome to play Josephine to Peter Seller's Napoleon. Sophia had hoped to rest before playing Josephine, but the $750,000 "CID" salary was too beautiful to resist.

If you know of an intelligent and amorous male turkey, call producer Oscar Brodney at 20th Century-Fox. When last heard from he needed an "intelligent" gobbler for a good role in his current movie, "All Hands on Deck." With trained animals a dime a dozen in Hollywood, no one seems to have a trained turkey. The reward for the bird is a guaranteed reprieve for Christmas holidays—if the acting is satisfactory. In brief, a life-or-death performance.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Whenever I get enthusiastic about a book in this column, I get letters from readers who want to buy it. Usually they ask for the title and publisher and want to know where they can get it.

Having been a book person all my life, this kind of request is always a little strange to me. To buy a book, you go to a bookstore; to find out about it, you go to a library. The fact is, however, that not everybody has ready access to a bookstore and millions of people are simply not in the habit of using a library. That's too bad; one of the greatest glories of this life is its public libraries.

Free of Charge

You—anyone who reads this—can go to your public library and get, free of charge, the following services:

Information about specific books—title, names of author and publisher, price, where it can be obtained and even whether the reviews have been, on the average, good or bad.

Information about any subject—what books and articles

Surprise Find

Not only that, you can also call the reference librarian by telephone and get the information you want—usually in a voice filled with pleased surprise that someone has discovered the library.

Oh, yes, you can also get books out of the library to take home and read—fiction, nonfiction, anything you like. If the book isn't there and you really need it for a purpose, they'll try to get it for you. Literally, the sum total of the world's recorded knowledge is at your disposal at your local library—if you care to use it.

So please, if you want to know about a book, don't write me (although I'll always be happy to answer your letter). Instead, go to your local library; the librarian will be delighted to serve you.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling, and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve this condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red band at all drug counters. You can depend on Dodd's.

THE BIG, FLAT-FOOTED BLACK BEAR

usually stays out of sight, but has become a droll beggar in the parks of Western Canada. Wife Hard to Kill

Chance Remark Jails Murderers

BONN (Reuters)—A chance remark at a funeral led to life sentences Wednesday for two lovers in the death of a hard-to-kill wife.

Ilse Bornstedt, 32, mother of three children, was killed by her husband, Heinrich, 38, and his girl friend, Paula Kockels, 23.

Paula, termed "a real little beast" by a court psychiatrist, joined Bornstedt in this series of attempts on his wife's life:

• They gave Mrs. Bornstedt sleeping pills on New Year's Eve, 1958, as a prelude to pumping air into her veins. The pills made her sick.

• Paula two nights later hit Mrs. Bornstedt over the head with a beer bottle as she slept. Mrs. Bornstedt merely woke up and thought her concussion was an accident.

• Paula administered injections of gasoline into Mrs. Bornstedt, claiming they were medical injections ordered for her concussion. Mrs. Bornstedt complained of heart pains.

• Bornstedt sent his daughter Brigitte, 11, to a druggist for medicine and after an overdose Mrs. Bornstedt died.

Bornstedt and Paula, who had been staying with the Bornstedts, were tripped up when the family's woman dentist mentioned at the funeral that the Bornstedts had been having marital trouble.

The remark to Mrs. Bornstedt's brother sent him to the police, who on exhumation of the body, discovered she had died of gasoline injections hastened by an overdose of medicine.

Both Bornstedt, a former West German army sergeant, and Paula, who were arrested in January, 1959, wore engagement rings at their trial.

Famous Players Set Pins

NANAIMO — One of the largest movie theatre concerns in the country has stepped into a new field in Western Canada with the purchase of a bowling alley building in Nanaimo.

The Famous Players organization has signed papers to buy the large Pygmy Bowling Alleys here.

M. G. Zorkin, Nanaimo realtor, announced the $350,000 transaction and said that although Famous Players owns such businesses in Ontario this is the first such step in the West.

DUNCAN — More than 200 men were laid off temporarily yesterday when woods operations were closed by five inches of snow.

Snow Shuts Log Camps

COAL HARBOR — Logging camps in the Quatsino area on the west Island coast are feeling the effects of the first heavy snowfall.

Pacific Western Airlines says loggers are coming out of the camps in the Holberg, Mahatta and Seymour Inlet districts.

LONG HISTORY

Palembang in Sumatra was the centre of a strong Hindu-Indonesian state in the 8th century.

Most expect to go back to work today if there is no more snow.

Western Forest Industries crews at Meader Creek and Gordon River were let out at noon Tuesday and were off yesterday. The Caycuse camp of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. was closed yesterday afternoon but the men have been called back for today.

MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River camp at Copper Canyon closed late Tuesday but opened yesterday. Work is to continue today. Snowfall of about 14 inches at the 3,200-foot level forced some crews to work in lower levels.

The company's Nanaimo River operations kept open despite several inches of snow.

Nanaimo in Cup Parade

NANAIMO — This city will be represented in the Grey Cup parade in Vancouver this weekend by the Nanaimo district pipe band under Pipe Major Norman Bremner.

The Mayo Lumber Co. has offered to pay expenses of the band. The city earlier this year turned down the idea of putting in a float because of lack of finances.

Three States Sending Ferry Officials Here

Houses Outnumber Canadian Buyers

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — David B. Mansur, Toronto business consultant and former head of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said Wednesday recent moves by federal and provincial governments to assist Canada's housing industry are not likely to produce an effective increase.

Mr. Mansur said that with 300,000 housing units built in two years, there are too many houses for potential buyers.

QUEBEC (CP)—The Liberals Wednesday night won Joliette and Rouville ridings from the Union Nationale in the first provincial by-elections since the Liberals won Quebec last June.

Joliette had been held since 1935 by Antonio Barrette, Union Nationale leader who quit in September. He won by 6,000 in June.

Proxy Marriage

Red Tape Binds Parted Couple

TORONTO (UPI)—An Italian woman living in Toronto appeared hopelessly caught up in legal red tape in attempts to end a proxy marriage to a man she hasn't seen in four years.

Maria Frustaglio, also known as Maria Barbuto, came to Canada in 1955. A year later she went through a proxy type of marriage with Vito Barbuto who lives in the village of Gaylato, county of Castiglione, Italy.

She has appealed against an order preventing her from issuing a writ against him. The understanding was that Barbuto would come to Canada to live with the woman. However, he has not arrived and is apparently prohibited from coming by an immigration department order.

The plaintiff is seeking a declaration that the marriage is null and void.

J. R. Kimber, master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, decided the application should not be granted.

Ford Peril To Trade?

LONDON (Reuters)—A British trade organization said Wednesday that if the Detroit-based Ford Motor Company takes over English Ford completely, the British subsidiary will not legally be able to continue shipping tractors to Communist China.

On-Spot Probe Asked By North Islanders

Two up-Island groups Tuesday asked for an immediate on-the-spot investigation by federal maritime commission authorities into the problem of keeping a good scheduled freight service between the north-Island, including Beaver Cove, Alert Bay, Port McNeill and the south of the Island.

An overflow public meeting at Alert Bay sent wires asking for urgent study and action on the north-Island transportation problem to the associated chambers of commerce of Vancouver Island, Premier Bennett, the maritime commission, and Harry McQuillan, MP for Comox-Alberni district.

Comox Co-operative Creamery Association, which has in recent months been shipping supplies to the north-Island for the first time, took a similar stand yesterday afternoon and was in touch with Ottawa authorities.

Immediate problem is that Northwest Shipping Company, a subsidiary of Northland Transportation Company, which operates a subsidized boat service to north-Island points of call, has put on a passenger service from Kelsey Bay to north-Island points with bus connections, via Nanaimo, to and from Vancouver.

This new service is in competition with that provided by Murray Marine Service with the Uchuk III which carries freight, cars and passengers, and is geared to a linking of north and south-Island points. North-Island residents have expressed fears that the Northwest service, subsidized through its other service, could force Murray Marine out of business and then continue to operate an inferior service.

Natives Restless

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The U.S. army has asked its men not to bring large U.S. cars overseas, apparently because the "natives" don't like them.

"Shipment of flashy or expensive vehicles to foreign areas is discouraged," a recent directive said. "Personal vehicles taken to foreign countries should be appropriately inconspicuous and unostentatious."

Ferry officials from Alaska, Hawaii and Washington states will meet B.C. government representatives in Victoria Monday to discuss start of the new coast service linking Prince Rupert and Haines, Alaska.

The service, approved Nov. 8 when Alaskans voted $23,000,000 for construction of two coastal ferries, will form a major northern link in the proposed "maritime highway" from Washington to Alaska, probably including Vancouver Island.

STATE AUTHORITIES Delegates attending the one-day conference which starts at 9 a.m. Monday in the Empress Hotel include members of the Hawaiian state transportation committee and state ferry authority officials from Washington and Alaska.

B.C. representatives at the talks include provincial comptroller-general C. J. Ferber, Monty Aldous, manager of provincial ferry service, and Capt. O. J. Williams of B.C. Coast Steamships.

YEAR-ROUND RUN The Washington delegation includes I. D. Birse, general manager of Washington State Ferries, and R. J. Acheson, president of Black Ball Transport Inc., which operates the year-round Victoria-Port Angeles service.

Delegates will board the ferry My Coho at the Inner Harbor at 1 p.m. Monday after hearing B.C. views on the new service during the morning session. The afternoon session will be held aboard the ferry as it travels to Port Angeles and then on to Seattle.

Fishboat Found Two Men Lost

An RCAF Canso from Sea Island today will assist an RCMP ground party in a search for two men feared lost when their fishing boat capsized in rough water near Alert Bay.

Names of the men were not known at press time. Fears for their safety arose when the boat, which left Alert Bay Monday, was found yesterday noon on a beach at Cormorant Island in the Alert Bay area.

The top of the wheel house was damaged as though the vessel had been rolled up onto the beach by heavy seas, said a search co-ordination centre spokesman. The men apparently were nowhere near the wreckage.

Three-Car Crash Hurts Two

A three-car crash on Cook Street last night ended in a trip to hospital for two occupants of the middle car.

In satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital are William Bevis, 61, 402 Chester, with a lacerated forehead and a neck injury, and Robert Bevis, 58, of the same address, with lacerations to the forehead.

Mr. Bevis' car struck the rear of a large car stopped in the traffic lane and driven by Edward R. Higgs, 6485 Oldfield Road, and in turn was struck from the rear by another small car driven by John R. Walker, 46 South Turner, said police.

Pedestrian Injured

A pedestrian, Mrs. Edna Armstrong, 40, 581 Whiteside, received possible leg and hip injuries when she was struck by a car in the city last night.

She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by police ambulance. Three other unidentified women who were walking across the intersection with her escaped injury but were visibly shaken by the near miss.

They were crossing Cook Street at View in a pedestrian crosswalk about 11 p.m.

A fashion show was letting out about the same time at a supper club a block away. Driver of the car was John Scott Arnel, 1497 Myrtle, said police.

Free Society Politics Profits 'Musts'

EDMONTON (CP)—Gordon Love of Calgary, past president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday both profit and politics are essential to "our way of life."

Mr. Love told the Alberta Social Credit convention that in a free society there is a great need to be able to depend on a government which creates and maintains a climate favorable for expansion.

"Unless we are prepared to take an active participating interest in politics, our whole democratic system of government may be lost by default," he said.

CNR Heeds Strike Threat

MONTREAL (CP) — The CNR announced Wednesday it has postponed a trial of a new fast-freight service between Toronto and Winnipeg, scheduled for today.

CFR members of parliament had warned the Commons Tuesday the CNR crew members — engineers, firemen, brakemen and conductors — might stage an illegal walkout in northern Ontario if the trial run was made.

New Faces Not Likely

By PETER BRUTON

Long-awaited reorganization of the provincial cabinet is expected Monday but it is virtually certain that no new faces will be added at this time.

The shuffle results from the defeat of Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy in the Sept. 12 provincial election. Mr. Wicks also held the portfolio of commercial transport.

Most frequently heard speculation has it that Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan will take on the added burden of the agriculture portfolio and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black the labor post. It is also thought that Attorney-General Robert Bonner will be given the commercial transport portfolio.

City Hit by Rash Of Petty Thefts

A rash of petty thefts in the North Park, said a radio was taken from her car while it was parked overnight in front of her home.

Peoples Finance Ltd., 1405 Douglas, reported $80 taken during the lunch hour from a cash box inside an unlocked vault.

Two sets of steer horns valued at $45 were taken from the Round Up Grill, on Quadra.

A transistor radio worth $75 was taken from the room of George Burkmar, 613 Courtney.

Council Expected to Back Mayor's Fare Protest

City council is expected to approve today the action of Mayor Percy Scurrell in writing to the chairman of the Air Transport Board protesting against Trans-Canada Air Lines' proposed 40-per cent fare increase.

The mayor wrote the official letter of protest and added a request for a public hearing by the board after city council unanimously, but at an informal meeting, decided to fight the fare increase.

Today's council meeting will be the first regular meeting since then.

Seattle Boats B.C. 'Hope' In Fair Year

Premier Bennett said yesterday he "hopes" the CPR will run additional ferries between Victoria and Seattle in 1962 in an effort to bring as many tourists here as possible.

The Century 21 world fair will be held in Seattle for six months that year.

Grey Cup

Little Fever Here

While football fans pour into Vancouver from the east, travel from southern Vancouver Island for Saturday's Grey Cup game is on a more limited scale—largely because of shortage of game tickets.

Airline and bus transportation companies reported yesterday, however, bookings are brisk for additional services arranged for late Friday and Saturday.

Trans-Canada Air Lines has already added two flights to its regular 4:15 p.m. Friday departure for the mainland. One extra section has been added to both the 5:45 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. flights from Patricia Bay.

The first two morning flights to the mainland on the day of the big game have had one extra section each added.

Two special coaches will leave the Empress Hotel parking lot at 6:15 a.m. and 8:15 a.m. Saturday for Empire Stadium by way of Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry. The early run will get to Vancouver in time for the Grey Cup parade.

Both coaches will take their passengers to the game and return by the 7 p.m. Saturday ferry from Tsawwassen.

A spokesman for Vancouver Island Coach Lines said yesterday reservations and stadium tickets are essential for those who wish to travel on the special coaches.

Extra buses will run from the VICTL downtown terminal at 6:10 a.m. Saturday if there is an overflow of passengers on the regular service to Vancouver.

School Seat Sought

Photographer Ralph Fryer, 244 Richmond, yesterday became a candidate for election as one of the two Victoria members of the Greater Victoria school board.

If he succeeds, he will be one of his wife's bosses. Mrs. Fryer is a teacher employed by the board.

But that just increases his knowledge of and interest in school matters, Mr. Fryer said. "I've heard all sides."

Trustee Mrs. E. M. Maunsell was nominated earlier for re-election and trustee Walter Thomson, whose term also expires at the end of December, will not seek re-election.

Youth Pleads Innocence In Knife Case

A 17-year-old Oak Bay youth charged with assault causing bodily harm was remanded to Dec. 2 in Oak Bay juvenile court yesterday, after pleading not guilty.

The youth was arrested Tuesday and charged with assaulting Sandra Corbett, 15, 1587 Yale, who suffered a cut hand when she grabbed a knife wielded by an assailant on a lonely trail between her home and Oak Bay High School Friday night.

Observation To End On Saturday

Saturday night public observation periods at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich mountain will be discontinued after Saturday until early April, officials said yesterday.

Ontario

Cruiser At End Of Line

The former RCN cruiser Ontario has been delivered into the hands of Japanese shipbreakers after a 43-day trans-Pacific tow ended successfully this week with her arrival at Osaka. The tug Superior Straits took five days longer than expected for the 5,300-mile voyage from Esquimalt, because of gale-force winds in mid-Pacific.

Mr. Kiernan previously held the agricultural portfolio and was well-liked by farmers generally.

Premier Bennett said yesterday that he hoped to be able to announce the changes on Monday.

Observers feel that the premier will make no permanent appointments until after the coming session of the legislature which opens in January.

Recommendation of a coroner's jury that a pedestrian crossing be established on Douglas in the vicinity of Finlayson will receive quick attention from the city.

City engineer James Garnett said yesterday he will look into the situation and report to council's public works committee.

ACCIDENTAL

The jury, finding the death of 80-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Annie Armitage accidental, attached the recommendation to its verdict.

Mrs. Armitage, of 3116 Steele, was injured Oct. 26 while crossing Douglas between Larch and Finlayson, and died after 10 days in a coma.

ON DOUGLAS

She was struck by a car driven north on Douglas by William H. Neill, 3855 Rowland.

Coroner Dr. J. H. Moore told the jury the evidence showed the driver was "not breaking any traffic rules, and in fact was driving carefully."

Rockingham to Visit City

Maj.-Gen. John M. Rockingham, former commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), will be guest of honor at the regiment's annual game dinner Saturday.

While in Victoria he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Cabell.

Gen. Rockingham is general officer commanding the Quebec command.

Mayor Sees No Reason For Open Arena Probe

Manager Reprimanded For Mistakes Made

A public inquiry into the Memorial Arena situation, Mayor Percy Scurrell said yesterday, from his knowledge of the facts could have no useful result.

A demand for such an inquiry is expected to be made at today's city council meeting by Aldermen Elmer McEwen and Hugh Ramsay.

CLOSED HEARING

It would be a sequel to the rapid-fire resignation of six arena employees, a closed hearing of the ex-employees and arena manager Joseph Dukowski by the arena commission, the resignation of Mr. Dukowski effective after 90 days, the acceptance of the resignation by the commission and the resignation from the commission of Courtney Haddock over the ex-employees "being unable to go back to their jobs" with Mr. Dukowski still there.

"I have read the minutes of the meeting between the arena commission and the employees, and have read the statements of the employees as submitted to that meeting," Mayor Scurrell said.

"There is no suggestion of any shortage as far as money is concerned, as the books have been audited and found in first-class condition. The disagreements (between the employees and Mr. Dukowski) were an accumulation which had grown up ever since the manager took on the management of the hockey club."

"Everyone was working under pressure, and it grew and grew."

"There is no doubt about it the manager made mistakes, and he has been reprimanded by the commission for those mistakes."

"On the other hand, the arena is one of possibly two or three in Canada which has consistently made a profit. During 1959-60, the profit was $37,810 and the average profit during the past 10 years has been $37,244. This would indicate good management."

"In his opinion, the mayor said, "it could be disastrous to have a change in management in the middle of the busy season, as arena managers don't change positions at this time of year. Their contracts are generally made during May."

And he said, it is "extremely important" to the taxpayers that the arena continues to make an operating profit.

For the past 10 years the city has received $25,000 a year from the arena toward payment of capital costs, he said, and when the entire arena debt has been paid off in 1964, "it will be an even greater asset than now to the city."

"I am anxious that the arena does not lose money this year because it directly affects taxes, and any loss must be borne by the taxpayers of the city."

Mayor Scurrell said he has no wish to interfere with the arena commission—"They are responsible business men, and in my opinion doing a good job in handling the arena business and I personally have every confidence in them. Whatever their decisions are regarding this matter will, I believe, be made in the interests of all the citizens of Victoria."

'Reassure Public' Chore for Chest

The public needs reassurance that Community Chest funds are being used to best advantage, according to a spokesman for one of the 22 Red Feather agencies.

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, president of the Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria, said yesterday the "citizens' body" he heads is the logical one for the job, but at the moment lacks a professional executive director.

He was commenting on the failure of the campaign just ended to reach its goal of $350,000. Latest total in the drive announced yesterday was $264,000.

In the minds of some people, said Dr. Boettcher, there obviously exists a doubt that all of the $350,000 was urgently needed by Chest agencies.

"Active review" of the work of all agencies, carried out by a body such as his own, would assure the public that Red Feather donations are being used wisely.

PENCILLED JOTTINGS:

Man on the hot seat Tuesday was Sid Smith, who ran smack into one of the most difficult decisions of his career within minutes of being re-elected president of the Victoria Liberal Association: A vote to pick the official delegate to the annual Liberal convention in Vancouver Friday resulted in a tie and Sid was called on to cast the deciding ballot. What made it difficult was that his wife Mabel was tied in the voting with David McNaught. Sid chose Mr. McNaught . . . These days a singer has to be versatile. ## What's Cooking

By LOUISE MOORE

Give me snow and ice, gaily lit shops and a big jolly Santa booming his ha-ha-ha and I'm up to my neck in Christmas activities. There is no time to lose if Christmas is to be really enjoyed in a leisurely way so on with the plum puddings and mince meat — here are the recipes for the best of their kind which I've baked through the years.

OLD ENGLISH PLUM PUDDING

Put into a bowl—1 lb. finely chopped beef suet, 1 lb. brown sugar, 6 well-beaten eggs, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, ½ lb. each, chopped mixed peel, sultanas, currants, dark raisins, blanched and chopped almonds, ½ lb. pared and cored apples minced, 3 cups grated day-old bread crumbs, ¼ cup brandy, ½ tsp. almond flavoring.

Mix and sift 2 cups all-purpose flour, ¼ tsp. baking soda, ¼ tsp. each all-spice, mace, cloves and cinnamon. Combine with first mixture and mix thoroughly.

Place in buttered pudding mold or individual molds having dish or molds ½ full. Cover with cloth or wrap loosely in foil, leaving plenty of room for expansion. Put on cover and set in steamer. Cover tightly with lid and steam over rapidly boiling water 4 to 5 hours, individual molds 1½ hours.

PUDDING SAUCE

Put 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar in saucepan and let cook over medium heat until caramelized. Add 1½ cups boiling water and stir until caramel is dissolved. Mix 2 tbsp. cornstarch with ¼ cup cold water until smooth and stir into the mixture, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add 2 tbsp. butter, ¼ tsp. nutmeg and 2 tbsp. lemon juice or if you wish a dash of brandy. Wonderful with any steamed pudding and so easy to make.

HARD SAUCE FOR CHRISTMAS PUDDING

Cream ½ cup sweet butter. Gradually beat in 1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar until light and fluffy. A little more sugar may be needed. Add 1 tbsp. cream or brandy and a dash nutmeg.

Beat thoroughly and chill until ready to serve. Good with apple pie, too, and mince meat pie or tarts.

length gown of white lace over taffeta, fashioned with lily-point sleeves and a fitted bodice. Her veil of illusion net edged with lace was held to a coronet of pearls. Her bouquet was of white gladioli and red roses.

Miss Doris Minter, in a mauve dress, Miss Joyce Watkins in pink, and flower girls Pamela Squire and Barbara Travers in pink and mauve were attendants. They carried matching bouquets.

The groom had Mr. James Sneddon as best man and Mr. Wallace Ormiston and Mr. John Tyler, the bride's brother as ushers.

A reception was held in the Royal Oak Institute Hall where a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white candles and red rose buds centred the bride's table. Mr. F. Tyler, the bride's uncle, proposed the toast.

For travelling, the bride wore a pink wool dress with a beige coat, brown and beige accessories.

Victoria Home For Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Broadhurst have returned from a honeymoon in Portland, and are making their home at 37 Gorge Road East. Mrs. Broadhurst is the former Miss Eleanor Janet Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tyler, 5553 Old West Road, Royal Oak, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Broadhurst, Victoria.

Canon R. Willis officiated at the ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church which was decorated with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Guests' pews were marked with nosegays.

91st Birthday Celebrated At Large Party

About 30 members of the poetry group of the Canadian Authors' Association and their friends were guests at the home of Mrs. W. H. Yardley, 2861 Colquitz Avenue recently on the occasion of Mr. James Morton's 91st birthday. An evening of reminiscing was enjoyed by Mr. Morton and contemporary of his in the newspaper field, Mr. Harris Turner. Mr. Morton was formerly with Vancouver's "News Advertiser" and "World." A highlight of the evening was a recitation by Mr. Morton of a poem he had written for the occasion. Mr. Frank Conibear, president of the local branch of the CAA, presented photographs of British Columbia premiers, Oliver, MacLean and Tolmie, whom Mr. Morton had served as secretary.

KIWANIANS

Floral, ornamental and natural arrangements for Christmas decorating were demonstrated by Mrs. Etheridge at the recent meeting of the Oak Bay Kiwanians held at the home of Mrs. H. C. Gill. Assisting Mrs. Gill were Mrs. Ernie Peden, Mrs. Clare Moore, Mrs. Peter Thomson and Mrs. Charles Pomeroy.

Plans were made for the yearly donations of Christmas hampers.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is the hardest one I have ever had to write. I can't go to anyone I know with this problem. They would think I was crazy. I can't sign my name but if you can give me some advice I will never forget you.

I am 19 years old and just got out of the service—three months ago. I started to go with a girl who works in a hamburger place. She is 18, very pretty, and has a lot of pep and personality.

I have taken this girl out about eight times in the last three months. I give you my solemn word that I never got intimate with her. I kissed her several times, but nothing more and God is my judge.

She told me last night that she is pregnant and we have to get married. I told her it is impossible, but she claims kissing can cause pregnancy on very rare occasions. She insists her doctor said it was a one-in-a-million medical miracle.

Please answer in the paper immediately. Have you ever heard of this medical miracle? I need help fast.—ANONYMOUS WRECK

Dear Wreck: If you buy this story you are a medical miracle—no head. Ask the girl to give you the name of her doctor. She will not be able to give you a name because no doctor would tell such a wild story.

Dear Ann: A very intelligent friend of mine spends a lot of time and care selecting clothes. She always looks nice and I'm sure she knows it.

Whenever someone gives her a compliment she makes some disparaging remark such as, "Oh this dress is an old rag. I wore it because it's comfortable." Last night I complimented her on a hat which was becoming and she countered with, "It's five years old. I wore it because my hair looks so awful."

I know a few other who pull this stuff. What's the matter with them anyway?—INQUIRER

Dear Inquirer: Some people can handle an insult better than a compliment. It's because they are insecure and unable to accept with poise kind words about themselves. They appreciate a compliment.

ments but are emotionally unequipped to handle them graciously.

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who signed herself "Workhorse Wife" reminded me of my own experience last fall. I've been burning about this ever since. Now I'll get it out of my system by writing to you like she did.

My husband and I were walking home from church. The lady who lives next door shouted "Yoo-hoo, Clyde, can you come here a minute?"

Well, I went on home and fixed dinner. About an hour later I looked around and there was no sign of Clyde. I went into the yard and there he was on a step-ladder—putting on the neighbor's storm windows in his Sunday clothes and his Sunday hat. What do you say to that?—ANOTHER SLAVE

Dear Slave: I say it's too bad you didn't have a camera handy. The shot would have been good for a laugh for years to come.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help for the Alcoholic," enclosing your request in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them in her care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BACKACHE AND RHEUMATISM PAIN

After 25 years, many women and men are made miserable by common urinary disorders. Waste impurities and bacteria often irritate the delicate passages from the kidneys. Then you can feel tired, old, nervous and suffer from rheumatic pains, such as backache, aches around joints, sciatica or neuritis. For these troubles, thousands are finding wonderful fast help with the urinary antiseptic and pain relieving action of CYSTEX. These kidneys are well, pains go and sleep is refreshing. You feel younger and stronger. Get CYSTEX from your drugstore today and see how refreshing you feel.

St. Joseph's Hospital

One of Season's Largest Bazaars

"Wild and Domesticated Animals—For Sale" . . . this is what was found yesterday at the St. Joseph's Hospital annual bazaar and silver tea sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary in the Nurses' Residence.

Just inside the door, a large circus cage, gaily painted green, and supported by cardboard wheels, held all sorts of stuffed animals, from unlikely leopard-spotted giraffes, to be ribboned octopi. The colorful display lured many customers to that corner of the bazaar room, where there were also Christmas decorations and dolls, baby-clothes and a raffle for a beautiful bride doll.

Sister Mary Anne Celeste, Superior, introduced Mrs. G. R. Peakes who opened the affair at 10 a.m., prior to which the Nurses' Choir sang, "In a Monastery Garden," and "Come to the Fair."

Mrs. T. Atkinson, auxiliary president and Mrs. M. Adkins, general convenor, received guests at the tea, which was convened by Mrs. C. M. Day.

Presiding at the floral centred tea table were Mrs. J. B. Anderson, Mrs. S. S. Avron, Mrs. C. H. Borsman, Mrs. B. E. Cragg, Mrs. D. Hill, Mrs. F. J. Fiddess, Mrs. S. Marinker, Mrs. M. I. McKay, Mrs. B. J. Merchant, Mrs. E. Prevost, Mrs. R. C. Pronger, Mrs. J. Ryan, Mrs. V. Smith, Mrs. V. Stuart, Mrs. G. Walther, Mrs. R. G. Whitehead and student nurses.

Mrs. M. Butler, Mrs. J. D. Gillis, Mrs. H. Hayward and Mrs. P. Slaney sold aprons; Mrs. H. O'Neill, Mrs. R. Doyle, Mrs. T. Rogers and Mrs. A. G. Taylor, baby wear; Mrs. H. Jackh, Mrs. H. C. Carruthers and Mrs. R. N. Grant, candy; Mrs. J. A. McLellan, Mrs. C. N. Montague, Mrs. E. Dixon, Mrs. R. D. Gregor, Miss C.

Merritt and Mrs. Robinson, fancywork. In the hat bar and clothing room were Mrs. E. Michaux, Mrs. W. Rogers, Mrs. H. A. Humber and Mrs. E. Thomson, while Mrs. B. Wells, Mrs. B. Ryan, Mrs. C. C. Rose and Mrs. W. McNamara sold Christmas decorations. The popular home cooking and delicatessen stall was run by Mrs. G. M. McKenzie, Mrs. B. Davis, Mrs. G. Cooney, Mrs. J. Hallam, Mrs. J. Mann, Mrs. J. Longoz and Mrs. P. Stovan.

At the fishpond were Mrs. G. Norrie and Mrs. J. Canteillon; Lucky Seven, Mrs. A. Johnson, Mrs. P. Semichuk, Mrs. I. Boone, Mrs. S. Howard and Mrs. G. Van der Haegen.

Post Office was run by Mrs. A. W. Boden and Mrs. N. S. Eibell and the Zoo, by Mrs. R. Atkinson; raffles and cook books, Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. C. F. Amyot, Mrs. J. W. Bell, Mrs. A. C. Chislett, Mrs. V.

Queen Contestants Have Busy Time

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Taken collectively, they measure 319-210-315. And that's a lot of woman.

As a matter of fact, that's nine women—the nine representing every major professional football team in Canada in the Miss Grey Cup competition being staged here this week in connection with the national gridiron classic.

They come from the cities of the Big Four and Western Inter-Provincial Football Union. By Friday night one of the nine will be selected queen of the festival.

CROWNING

She'll be crowned in Empire Stadium ceremonies Saturday, just before the champions of East and West meet for the football title, and she will reign until the 1961 final when she will crown her successor.

The present ruling Grey Cup Queen is Anna Finlayson of Vancouver, a 19-year-old blonde 36-24-36 university student who won the title a year ago in Toronto.

$300 Made At Bazaar And Tea

President Mrs. M. Bentham received guests at the recent tea and bazaar held by the Daughters of St. George, No. 288, in the K of P Hall, Mrs. Percy Scourrah opened the affair. Mrs. E. Cownder was convener and Mrs. M. Harris of Lodge 83 poured tea, which was convoked by Mrs. G. Chinn, assisted by Mrs. M. Raines, Mrs. W. Tilley and Mrs. N. Sladden.

Approximately $300 was raised at the affair.

In charge of stalls were: tobaccos, Mrs. H. Thoninger and Mrs. L. Cuthbert; dolls, Mrs. L. Thompson; home cooking, Mrs. A. Reed and Miss H. Currie; candy, Mrs. R. Corneess and Mrs. R. McDowell; fancy work, Mrs. L. Watson and Mrs. J. Harper; chicken dinner, Mrs. D. Peck; white elephant, Mrs. W. Bentham; bingo, Mrs. F. Osborne and Mrs. M. Carter. Mrs. M. Wright sold tea tickets.

girls on their rounds of press conferences, dinners, luncheons, shows and tours that precede the Miss Grey Cup final and dance Friday night.

A get-acquainted dinner and private pyjama party were held on Wednesday and preliminary judging and a night-club date with Dennis Day are set for Thursday. On Friday they meet singer Jimmy Rodgers at the airport, appear on television and then have a late dinner before the Friday night finals.

In between are several press conferences, a tour of the city and a series of unofficial functions.

IN PARADE

Saturday morning they appear in the Grey Cup parade, then head for the stadium. And after the pre-game ceremonies, Afternoon branch of Christ Church Cathedral WA will meet in the Memorial Hall Monday, Nov. 28 at 2:30 p.m. when United Thank Offering will be received.

Dramatic courtier evening gowns modelled at the Jaycee-ettes gift and style show at the Sirocco last evening made every woman think of the dances and parties coming up for the holiday season.

Cloudy white nylon over taffeta with silver beading on the bodice and bright blue cummerbund fashioned a gown that brought forth hushed "Oh's" and "Ah's." Rich plum colored satin with amethyst beading and voluminous skirt was another gown to create a desire for possession.

A dreamy, romantic gown was of pale blue frothy nylon applied with pale pink roses on the bodice and skirt had a tiny self-pleated cummerbund at the high waistline.

Showing the longer waistline was a formal in blue brocade that had a huge, wide skirt. Another in filmy nylon was softly draped and featured a novel knotted panel arrangement on the skirt.

A cleverly draped, long, slim white jersey sheath was shown with a heavy evening cloak, also in white.

In the models presented by Yates Street stores, a black and purple tweed suit with velvet collar and a vivid purple and green plaid taffeta daytime dress were among the more outstanding. A white jersey sheath afternoon dress could see a person through a lot of informal gatherings during the holiday season.

Models were Myrtle Ledger, Dorothy Peaker, Cathy Johnson, Anne Harris and Peggy Di Castri and Sandra Halkett. Men's clothes were modelled by salesmen from Yates Street.

Mrs. Ida Clarkson was commentator and Mrs. Mary-Rawnsley, fashion coordinator.

City Council Veterans Stand Again

Two aldermen with many years of service announced yesterday they will stand for re-election Dec. 8. They are senior alderman and acting mayor Arthur Dowell and Ald. Austin Curtis.

Ald. Dowell, approaching the end of his 10th year on city council, yielded to the requests of many friends and fellow aldermen in deciding to run.

EUROPEAN TOUR

He had previously decided to retire from civic office, mainly, he said, because he has made arrangements for an extended tour of Europe with Mrs. Dowell in 1961.

"One of the deciding factors," he said, "was that members of council generously offered to share my responsibilities and duties while I am away, if I should be elected."

IMPORTANT ISSUES

Several "very important problems" are before council or in the offing. Ald. Dowell said, "and having participated initially in dealing with them I would like to see them through."

Ald. Curtis, who was a school trustee for 14 years, will be seeking his fourth two-year term on city council.

He believes, he said, his experience would be helpful in working on problems before the city at present, including the traffic and parking problem.

URBAN RENEWAL

"We will have to have a very good look at urban renewal," he said. "We have to be more active in attracting the type of industry the area can support, and I certainly think we must do something to build up port traffic. We ought to bring in more cargo ships."

The coming year will also be important for the planning of the city's centenary in 1962, he said—and for taking steps to attract a good share of the visitors who will flock to Seattle that year for the Century 21 world fair.

Bullet-Proof Vest Saved RCMP Man

EDMONTON (CP) — A bullet-proof vest saved an RCMP constable from a shot fired at point-blank range in a recent Alberta gun battle, a court learned here Wednesday.

Six men charged with conspiracy and attempted murder following the Nov. 5 gunfight at the farm near Stony Plain, 35 miles west of Edmonton, were remanded to Dec. 1 for further hearing.

Obituaries

Businessman Collapses, Dies on Job

Victoria businessman Gerald Murphy collapsed suddenly while at work early yesterday and was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was 67.

The long-time Victoria resident was a native of Dunganon, Eire, and a partner in Murphy Electric.

He was a member and past director of the Kiwanis Club, past-president of The Capital City Commercial Club and a member of Metropolitan United Church.

He is survived by his brother and business partner, R. T. Murphy, a sister, Mrs. Edith Marriner, Victoria, and nephews. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by McCall.

R. R. Wilson

Ridgeway Robinson Wilson, 71, well-known in British Columbia mining circles, died recently in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Mr. Wilson, president of Silver Standard Mines Ltd., resided in Santa Barbara since his retirement—12 years ago from a lifetime in B.C. mining.

He was a member of Henderson Masonic Lodge No. 84 in Victoria.

Surviving are the widow, Dorita; two sons, Bob and Keith Wilson; one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Foreman, and one brother, Bishop A. Wilson, Salt Spring Island.

Quail-Hunting Ike Winds Up Holiday

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—President Eisenhower wound up his Georgia vacation yesterday by quail hunting in a steady rain even though "muscular rheumatism" hurt his shoulder so much he gritted his teeth when even he raised his shotgun.

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI)—"Tomcats will roam and dogs will bay, no matter what Hercules himself can do or say."

With that misquote from Hamlet (see footnote) attorney John Paul Jones yesterday summed up the defence of Herman, the amorous tomcat, a 10-pound, orange and white animal charged with outrages against the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cook.

FELINE MAYHEM

Herman has been accused of feline mayhem against the Cooks' 12 Siamese, of scratching Mrs. Cook and smashing two windows and a screen door.

The Cooks asked $3,500 damages. In a counter-suit, Herman's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bowler, asked $1,500 for alleged abuse of Herman. They said he was just a "red-blooded American tomcat... led astray by the plaintiff's females, being the more deadly of the species."

The Cooks also want Herman to undergo a neutering operation to insure a more peaceful attitude on his part. They said they would pay costs. Never, said Bowler.

Superior court Judge Ralph Hoyt took under advisement the Cooks' request for an injunction to force the Bowlers to keep Herman at home.

HE SUFFERED

Herman has suffered during his rise to fame. Mrs. Bowler told police Monday he had been taken from their basement. She searched more than two hours before finding him bruised and bloody, cowering in a neighbor's basement.

Bowler took one look at his pet and declared: "This is war!"

Mrs. Cook felt she had already been at war with Herman. "You go 'sst' at any other cat in the world and he'll run away. Herman stands there and goes 'sst' right back and then advances toward you."

She added that "everybody thinks Herman is a big Don Juan when he's really just a Jack the Ripper."

(The way Shakespeare said it, in Act 5, Scene 1, was: "Let Hercules himself do what he may, the cat will mew and dog will have his day.")

Shares School with Negro

Jeers No Bother To White Girl

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Rev. Andy Foreman's daughter, Lynn, has lost her classmates at William Frantz School here.

The little blonde five-year-old sits alone in her kindergarten class. In another room, another little girl, six-year-old Ruby Nell Bridges, Negro, also sits alone with a teacher.

Lynn and Ruby don't know each other. Lynn has only seen Ruby once, in the company of the U.S. marshals who whisk her in and out of school as crowds of housewives jeer and boo around the newly-integrated school.

"We've been watching Lynn carefully since this started," says her father, the minister at nearby St. Mark's Methodist Church.

"There's been no indication she has been emotionally upset."

"She seems to appreciate the attention she's getting. It's like having a private tutor. She's just interested in what she's learning," he said.

Musical Art Program Proves Treat

By BERT BINNY

A nicely varied program was presented last night at Holyrood House by the Musical Art Society.

Included was a group of songs by contralto Sara Dillstone, who has a most pleasant voice and personality. She was at her best in her "Seguidilla" from Bizet's "Carmen."

Two numbers by Clarinetist Barry Moncur, the "Erwinn Fantasia" by Meister and "Albumleaf" by Victoria organist and composer Rodney Webster, provided a real musical treat.

Miss Dillstone was accompanied by Dorothy Gough and Mr. Moncur by Faith Webster. The duo-piano team of Rita Wallis and Margery Vaughan performed excellently Elgar's "Enigma Variations" and compositions by Marvyn Roberts, Xaron-Legris, Alec Rowley and William Walton.

182,000,000 In U.S. Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. population should reach 182,000,000 at about 5 a.m. EST today, the census bureau says. It based the estimate on results of this year's population count—and birth, death, and migration rates.

Show Business

By Dick Williams

One of the scenes for "The Counterfeit Traitor," a Second World War spy story filmed entirely in Europe, called for William Holden to stroll along the Hebertstrasse in Hamburg, the notorious street of vice where sailors window-shop for women.

As the cameras rolled, Holden glanced casually in the windows as he walked along. In one of them sat the company's film editor, Alma Macrorie, playing one of the ladies of the night.

Bill's footsteps faltered, but only for a moment and he strode on through the scene. Alma's appearance in the window was a last-minute gag played on the star by director George Seaton.

"That's one take that won't end on the cutting-room floor," Seaton laughed. "I shall treasure every frame."

Canadians 'Hardened' Against U.S. Influence

Mysteries Explained

Sacred Chief Solon Low Steps Out of Public Life

RAYMOND, Alta. (CP)—In this community 20 miles south of Lethbridge, the resignation is effective Jan. 1, 1961.

Mr. Low earlier had announced plans to step out of politics but agreed to continue as party leader until the Social Credit national leadership convention, scheduled for next summer in Ottawa.

'Bad for Canada'

National Social Credit leader Solon Low's resignation will be a bad loss for Canada, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

"I would hope that he would give it fuller consideration," he said. "The political scene in Canada needs Social Credit now more than at any other time."

"After having had the opportunity of following John I don't think the people want to follow him again and they certainly don't want to go back to the laissez-faire Liberalism," he said.

Premier Bennett added that he had no intention of seeking the national leadership.

Editor Sees No Need For Curbs

VANCOUVER (CP)—The importance of the periodical press to the welfare of Canada as a nation was stressed Wednesday as the royal commission on publications wound up a three-day session of public hearings here.

Collapse and disappearance of the periodical press in Canada would be a national disaster, Bruce Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Times, told the commission's closing session here.

FUTURE PROSPECTS

The commission, headed by M. Grattan O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal, is studying the present state and future prospects of the periodical publishing industry in Canada with special attention to foreign competition.

Mr. Hutchison told the commission Wednesday that periodical publications are the best means of circulating ideas nationally in Canada.

HEALTHY SIGN

Speaking of fears that United States pressures may overwhelm Canadians so that they lose their identity as Canadians, Mr. Hutchison said:

"The Canadian people are not getting softer but if anything harder in their distinct identity. The best proof of this fact is the present general state of alarm about the nation's future—an alarm which I consider the most healthy sign in Canada today."

SUGGESTION 'MAD'

Mr. Hutchison said that any suggestion to curb the flow of foreign publications into Canada "is so mad that I'm sure no one is seriously considering it."

But in reply to Mr. O'Leary, he said he would agree to some government control over this influx if it was proven that it threatened the existence of the industry in Canada. There would have to be complete safeguards, however, to maintain freedom of the press.

TOUR MEXICO

Foreign tourists to Mexico during 1960 are expected to reach a record total of 1,000,000.

Tory Plans 'Grab Bag'

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator W. Ross Macdonald said Wednesday the Progressive Conservative government tossed the Canadian people a "grab bag" wrapped in mystery in its throne speech declarations.

The Senate opposition leader said in the Upper Chamber that the speech was not received with great enthusiasm by any group in Canada.

"We just don't know what is going to come of it," he said.

'Drinking Drivers' Had Right Answers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two novel appeals won acquittals in magistrates' court here Tuesday for Kenneth Walters, 50, and Mrs. Lillian Elliott, 39, on charges of impaired driving.

Police said Walters had a blood-alcohol count of .23 when arrested Aug. 9 after his truck was involved in an accident here.

STEADY NERVES

Walters told the court he became intoxicated after the accident, when he went to the nearby home of a friend to get a drink to steady himself.

Mrs. Elliott, who had a reading of .20-15 is considered the legal level for intoxication—told the court she was too interested in drinking to be bothered about driving.

SLID BEHIND WHEEL

She said her companion got out of the car to get some cigarettes and she slid behind the wheel because it would look better as the car was double-parked.

"I was intoxicated, but I had not touched a gear," she said.

Diabetes Campaign Extended

Response by hundreds of Victorians to the Canadian Diabetes Association offer of a free test for diabetes has made it necessary to extend the campaign to the end of the month, Jack Neale, president of the local CDA branch said last night. Coupons clipped from newspaper ads or picked up at drugstores should be mailed to Canadian Diabetes Association, 76 Bloor Street West, Toronto 5, for the test kit.

'Reluctant Lord' Tries Again

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's "reluctant lord" Wednesday night announced new steps aimed at "the persistent commoner."

Labor MP Anthony Wedgwood Benn, 35, said he had signed an instrument renouncing the viscountcy he succeeded to last week on the death of his father, Lord Stansgate.

If he succeeds in the move, he will become the first man to renounce a peerage since the 17th century and the first member of Parliament to do so.

Wedgwood Benn objects to his elevation to the peerage because it means giving up the seat he has held in the House of Commons for 10 years and moving into the "politically toothless" House of Lords.

He also has requested another member of the House of Commons to present a petition on his behalf asking for the appointment of a committee to consider his grounds be presented in the House of Commons next week.

Color Bar Met in Canada

HALIFAX (CP)—West Indies university students report they encountered a color prejudice from Canadian students and from Halifax residents.

They made their comments during a meeting with Owen

Rowe, assistant commissioner of the West Indies federation in Canada. Mr. Rowe is visiting universities which have West Indies students.

Among the complaints were that persons who advertised rooms for rent said they were taken when colored students applied; Dalhousie University students did not invite them to their homes and seldom attended parties arranged by the West Indian Society.

The meeting resolved to take more positive action to form friendships with Canadians even if it meant rebuffs.

Pope John extends his hand to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Vatican City as the two met yesterday for a private talk.

Alderman Urges Civil Standards For Restaurants

A system of certification to assure customers—and buyers—that Victoria's eating places measure up to health standards will be recommended to city council by its health and welfare committee.

The committee made this decision after Ald. Elmer McEwen claimed there were cases of owners allowing restaurants to deteriorate and then selling them to buyers who were required to bring them up to standard to obtain a trades licence.

SHOULD HAVE WAY

He also claimed that owners should have a way "of knowing whether they are up to standard or not."

If the recommendation is accepted, all eating places including employees' lunchrooms will be required to display a certificate proving they have been inspected and passed, on an annual basis.

MOST SPOTLESS

Chairman Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson told the committee she had recently visited restaurants with the sanitary inspector and "found most of them spotless." Three were not up to standard, she said, and of these, one was closed Saturday, one would be closed at the end of the month and the other would be renovated.

The committee also will recommend that public works committee consider certification after all inspections in its field.

Bennett

Conference In Quebec

Premier Bennett and his advisers will attend a meeting of provincial premiers in Quebec City Dec. 1 and 2 in an effort to "further Canadian unity," he said yesterday.

The meeting has been planned by Quebec's Premier Jean Lesage to discuss federal-provincial problems. An invitation has also been sent to Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

New African Violence

'Arrest Agitators'

Capetown

Sit-Ins Reach Africa

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—A Negro was ordered to go to a police station Wednesday for taking part in an anti-segregationist sit-in in the whites-only cafeteria of a department store here.

Other members of the anti-segregationist party of seven volunteered to accompany him, but were told they were not wanted. They went anyway.

It was the second recent sit-in here. Previously 15 whites, Negroes and persons of mixed race staged a sit-in in a white tea room.

No attempt was made to stop the party of seven Negroes, whites and mixed-race persons from entering the cafe. But the manager told a Negro member, "I am sorry, but I can't serve you."

Non-whites plan to stage similar demonstrations at least once a week and hope the campaign will spread to other South African cities.

PRETORIA (Reuters)—The South African government plans new measures against unrest in Pondoland after violence flared again Wednesday in the African reserves there.

Seven huts belonging to a wealthy Pondo tribesman were burned down in an African township 16 miles from the town of Flagstaff.

RED AGITATORS

Daan de Wet Nel, minister of Bantu African administration and development, told a press conference that African chiefs in Pondoland will be given immediate powers to arrest "white Communist agitators."

He said he would use all legal powers at his disposal to end the unrest, including formation of a home guard.

SPECIAL LAW

If necessary, he said, special legislation would be introduced.

Strong police forces are patrolling the Pondoland reserve in the east of Cape Province after a mounting wave of violence in the last week in which a brother of the paramount chief was killed and a police detachment ambushed and stoned.

SEPARATE AREA

Much of the violence in the area, part of a "bantustan" created by the government

SCOTTISH PEAK

Ben More, reaching 3,170 feet, is the highest point on the Isle of Mull in the Inner Hebrides off the Scottish coast.

under its policy of separate development for Negroes, has been attributed to opposition of Pondo tribesmen to the Bantu authorities set up by the government.

De Wet Nel said: "The sole source of incitement to riot among the Bantu is Communism. It is a tragedy that white Communists are the instigators of all these disturbances."

NO ARRESTS

He said the Communists were known but the police had not been able to arrest them.

South African English-language newspapers have complained in recent weeks of an "iron curtain" of secrecy surrounding events in Pondoland, where arson and killings have grown steadily this year.

HEAVY LOSSES

A boycott of European shops in the Pondoland town of Bizana is about two weeks old and traders are complaining of heavy losses.

DEEP-SEATED

"There is something radically wrong... murders, hut-burnings and boycotts tell a story of very strong and deep-seated resistance to the Bantu authorities system in the territory."

None Left For Critics

OXFORD, England (UPI)—Oxford University student Lord Sudeley, 21, bought all the available copies of a short story collection here that contained one of his contributions.

"I realize now," he said, "I should have left them there for others to see and buy."

Receives Macmillan

Pope Sends 'Cordial' Salute To Queen and British People

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John yesterday expressed "cordial and fervent" wishes for the Queen and saluted "the noble British people."

The 78-year-old supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church expressed his thoughts in receiving Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in official visit.

Macmillan was accompanied to the 25-minute private audience in the pontiff's library by Lord Home, Britain's foreign secretary. Then other members of the prime minister's party were permitted to enter the audience room, and the pontiff addressed the group.

He spoke in French. The pontiff hailed the efforts of the prime minister and of the British people for a true and lasting peace and said that the Roman Catholic Church also was bending its efforts to this objective.

Macmillan visited the pontiff after concluding two days of meetings with Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani and other Italian leaders.

'All Governments Must Help Farms'

The time has come when federal, provincial and municipal governments must accept equal shares of responsibility in the administration of an agricultural program in Canada, B.C. Federation of Agriculture delegates were told yesterday.

This was the only way such a program could be made effective, said Warner Jorgenson, parliamentary assistant to federal Agriculture Minister Hamilton.

U.S. Gets Snub

Germans Won't Pay

BONN (Reuters) — A U.S. financial mission left here by air Wednesday after West Germany turned down an urgent request to start making immediate cash payments for the upkeep of United States troops stationed on German soil.

West German Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard told reporters at the airport that Germany "had to say no" to the request during two days of talks here.

NOT AGAIN
Reporters at the airport asked Erhard whether the payments question was expected to come up at any further American-German negotiations. He replied emphatically "no."

Political observers said failure to reach agreement on so important a question to the United States was unprecedented in American-West German relations.

IMMEDIATE
Informed sources said the American negotiators went into the talks to get a substantial immediate payment to help the serious American financial situation, reflected in a decline in U.S. gold reserves to the lowest level in 25 years.

The Germans refused to be budged from their position that support of this kind must be arranged on a multilateral basis through NATO—which would take some months, the sources said.

The Germans also thought direct payment to the U.S. was likely to bring similar demands from other Atlantic alliance countries such as Britain, which maintains large forces in Germany.

GOLD OUTPUT

South Africa's gold production, in the first six months of 1960, at $131,700,000, was $11,300,000 higher than the same period the previous year.

Your Tiny '500' Gift May Look Big to Needy

Donations to the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund, no matter how small, help make Christmas a brighter time for the area's 500 neediest families.

Some who receive a helping hand tell their own stories in letters sent in after cheques are mailed out.

"Our house was warm and cosy for the holiday as we were able to purchase some wood with part of the money," said the head of one family helped last year. "Each of our five kiddies had a present and we were able to have some of the little extras which mean so much to children at that time of year—thank you so very much."

Another said: "Please relay to all the good Victoria citizens my warmest and heartfelt thanks for the wonderful and most welcome Christmas gift we received. It did indeed contribute in making a truly happy Christmas."

reasons why everyone who is able should give a little to the 500 Fund.

Donations may be mailed or brought to The Daily Colonist 500 Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, or left at the downtown office at 1215 Broad Street. Fund totals will be published each day.

Calm Before Grey Cup Storm

"New boys" Jackie Parker and Normie Kwong proved apt pupils yesterday in admiring conservatory greenery with long-time Empress Hotel resident Mrs. L. S. Sanders. Edmonton Eskimos' star quarterback and fullback hope they will come

Shoot to Kill Canucks Told

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—United Nations forces were placed on emergency alert in this turbulent capital Wednesday.

Canadian signalmen were told to shoot to kill if attacked by wandering bands of Congolese soldiers who are still enraged by the death of one of their senior officers and apparently are bent on revenge.

Congolese soldiers made menacing gestures at the two top UN officials in the Congo by digging military emplacements near their homes.

KILLED MONDAY
Lt. Col. Joseph Kokolo, commander of the Leopoldville

garrison, and three other Congolese soldiers were killed Monday night in a battle with UN Tunisian troops.

The four were given a state funeral yesterday morning with about 100,000 Congolese watching. There were some cries of "death to the United Nations."

GUARD DOUBLED
The 150 Canadians stationed here have doubled the guard round their quarters at a school building.

Tension continued high in the city Wednesday. Congolese soldiers seized at least 40 UN vehicles, forcing their occupants out at gunpoint.

The Canadians, solidly set up in buildings described by Colonel Paul Smith, 57, Canadian signal unit commander, as "easy to defend and difficult to take," were reinforced by a platoon of tough British-trained Malayan jungle fighters and may later get a company of Tunisians to defend the perimeter of the school grounds.

Orders to shoot to kill are to take effect only if Congolese soldiers attack the school and only when given by an officer.

MOVED BACK
Officers living in apartments near the school have moved back to the school quarters—two wings of dormitories linked to a central headquarters on the school grounds.

Canadians are not permitted off the grounds except for shift changes at the UN headquarters message centre, about half a mile away.

WHEN OR HOW

The Canadians continue to wear side arms at all times, with officers and NCOs equipped with automatic pistols and other ranks with sub-machine guns. From the time they arrived here in August until Monday night's shooting, they had not been armed.

Ailing Miles Away

Full-Scale Commons Debate Likely on South Africa

Court Jails Friend

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man who obtained $20 from a Trail magistrate by claiming to be a friend of another magistrate was sentenced Wednesday to nine months in jail on four false pretences charges.

William McLeod, 38, pleaded guilty to obtaining $20 from a grocery store at Trail with a cheque endorsed by Magistrate Parker Williams.

Magistrate Williams endorsed the cheque after McLeod said his car had broken down and he was a friend of Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in Nanaimo.

Special To The Colonist

OTTAWA — The Canadian House of Commons will probably engage in another full-scale debate on South Africa at this session.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker indicated in the Commons Wednesday that the members will be able to express their views "on matters of signal importance to the Commonwealth" before the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference next year, probably in March.

South Africa is again on the agenda as an important item for the conference. Since the prime ministers last met South Africa has voted to become a republic and its changed status requires it to apply for continued membership in the Commonwealth.

The prime ministers agreed at the last conference that if such an application was made, all member countries would have to agree before South Africa would be allowed to continue its membership.

with possession of stolen goods, said in a letter to Justice Clinton Ford that Medicine Hat police had told him a magistrate would let him off more easily if he pleaded guilty.

It was the third such appeal heard by the court since sittings began Monday morning.

"I wonder," said Chief Justice Ford, "why so many prisoners are saying they were promised specific terms in jail before they went to court. This

Blackout Peril Jars Hospitals

Hospital authorities, alarmed by the recent four-hour power blackout that forced them to rely on battery-powered lamps, said yesterday they are taking steps to rectify a potentially dangerous situation by installing emergency power plants.

George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, announced yesterday a 250-horsepower generating plant costing an estimated $30,000 would be installed during construction of the new hospital wing.

LIGHTS, ELEVATOR

He said it would generate enough power to keep in operation during an emergency the operating rooms, case rooms, emergency department, refrigeration and heating, as well as corridor lighting and at least one elevator in each building.

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical superintendent at St. Joseph's Hospital, said it was "sheer good fortune" that no surgery was in progress when a truck hit a power pole at Bay and Douglas Nov. 10.

EMERGENCY PLANT

He said St. Joseph's Hospital was considering installing a small emergency plant that would keep one operating room and corridor lights working.

Dr. Boettcher said four hours was a "dangerously long" period for a major hospital to be without power.

INJURY AS WELL

"All too often a major power disruption is accompanied by serious injury," he said. "What would have happened if a crowded bus struck the power pole and 29 injured were rushed to a hospital without power?"

Flicker Of Life Fails

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN — A 23-year-old volunteer fireman was electrocuted here last night when he and three helpers leaned an aluminum ladder against a 6,000-volt power-line.

Dead is Alan Campbell, a native of Clinton, B.C., who was employed here by the Bank of Montreal.

GOOD CONDITION

In good condition in Duncan hospital is Robert Lewis, a fellow fireman, who was helping to raise the ladder in an effort to put out a chimney fire at a Chinatown apartment building.

Gordon and Gary Griffiths, two others who were helping, received only slight shocks.

HOLES IN SHOE

Gordon Griffiths found two holes burned in his shoe where the massive electrical charge apparently went to ground after passing through his body, but was left unscathed.

Duncan doctors worked for more than two hours in an attempt to fan a spark of life still left in Campbell's burned body.

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH

The volunteer fireman, who joined the department last February, was at first thought to have been killed instantly, but finally showed flickering response after 20 minutes of mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Rushed to King's Daughters' Hospital a team of doctors went to work on him but the hospital announced a short time later that Campbell had died.

SECOND REPORT

As his employer was about to telephone the single man's parents at Clinton and while Fire Chief Gerod Sanderson was on his way back to the fire hall to advise fellow volunteers of the tragedy, a second report from the medical team indicated the victim was responding to heart massage.

But after massaging Campbell's heart for nearly an hour the youth was pronounced dead.

HIT WIRE

Witnesses to the accident said the electricity seemed to jump several feet to the ladder before actual contact was made with the wires. The ladder was being raised to the second storey of the apartment when there was a blinding flash.

Campbell was not wearing the usual firemen's rubber boots at the time and the streets were wet from a light rain.

Congo Tangle Avoided

OTTAWA (UPI)—External Affairs Minister Green said yesterday Canada abstained on a UN vote to seat Congolese President Kasavubu because Canada does not want to get involved in the Congolese leadership dispute.

He told the Commons that Ireland and Sweden also took this stand Monday because the three countries were the only non-Afro-Asian nations with troops serving the UN in the Congo.

Defence Minister Harkness said Canadian troops will remain in their present barracks in the Congo even though the building was hit by several shells during an exchange of gunfire between Congolese and UN troops Monday night.

'Copped Out' for Light Term, Third Man Says

CALGARY (CP)—A third prisoner in two days told the appellate division of supreme court Tuesday he had "copped out"—pleaded guilty—because he had been told his sentence would be lighter.

John A. Channing, charged with possession of stolen goods, said in a letter to Justice Clinton Ford that Medicine Hat police had told him a magistrate would let him off more easily if he pleaded guilty.

It was the third such ap peal heard by the court since sittings began Monday morning.

"I wonder," said Chief Justice Ford, "why so many prisoners are saying they were promised specific terms in jail before they went to court. This is getting under my skin. "Is it going around among the criminals that this is a good excuse, or are some of the complaints true? I sincerely hope the practice isn't general. I hope our officers aren't doing this.

"I realize that this charge has been levelled before, but it is heard awfully frequently this sitting."

Freight On-Spot Action Asked

Two up-Island groups Tuesday asked for an immediate on-spot investigation by federal maritime commission authorities into the problem of keeping a good scheduled freight service between the north-Island, including Beaver Cove, Alert Bay, Port McNeill and the south of the Island.

An overflow public meeting at Alert Bay sent wires asking for urgent study and action on the north-Island transportation problem to the associated chambers of commerce of Vancouver Island, Premier Bennett, the maritime commission, and Harry McQuillan, MP for Comox-Alberni district.

SIMILAR STAND

Comox Co-operative Creamery Association, which has in recent months been shipping supplies to the north-Island for the first time, took a similar stand yesterday afternoon and was in touch with Ottawa authorities.

Immediate problem is that Northwest Shipping Company, a subsidiary of Northland Transportation Company, which operates a subsidized boat service to north-Island points of call, has put on a passenger service from Kelsey Bay to north-Island points with bus connections, via Nanaimo, to and from Vancouver. This new service is in competition with that provided by Murray Marine Service with the Uchuk III which carries freight, cars and passengers, and is geared to a linking of north and south-Island points. North-Island residents have expressed fears that the Northwest service, subsidized through its other service, could force Murray Marine out of business and then continue to operate an inferior service.

NANAIMO—Two lower mainland residents were fined in Nanaimo police court on charges arising out of the Game Act.

Kennedy Hansen and Harry Myhre were convicted on two charges each and were told by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts that they had no business carrying a gun unless they were better acquainted with the regulations. The magistrate pointed out the alarming accident rate among hunters and said it is due largely to amateurs.

"Stay out of the woods if you don't know how to be careful," he said.

Tests Made for New Hospital

New One Planned

What Will Duncan Do With an Old Hospital?

NORTH COWICHAN—What is to become of the old King's Daughters' Hospital when it is replaced? Should it be used as a convalescent home on a non-profit basis?

These were questions posed by C. A. Green, president of the hospital, at a hospital planning committee meeting with representatives of the four Cowichan areas.

Mr. Green said his board had appointed a committee to investigate and obtain information, and to bring in a recommendation.

Members of the committee are Neil Gray, chairman; W. A. Kirby, V. R. Dougan, Alan Larkin and Mrs. Ed Mould.

Mr. Green, also head of the construction section of the planning committee, said that designs are still to be sketched for the proposed new hospital.

Drilling of test holes has started on the Gibbins Road property to see what soil conditions exist there. The first drill hole revealed gravel to 30 feet, sand to 50 feet.

was to have cleared the camps, had not yet reached some of the camps. Mrs. Jacobson suggested that something should be done by persons of this district for 10 children in Camp Walbringen, West Germany, the camp assigned to the Alberni by the adoption committee for displaced persons in Europe.

Later in the meeting, Mrs. T. S. Barnett reported on a family brought from a European camp to the Comox district.

Departing RCMP Honored in Ganges

GANGES—RCMP Const. Harry Bonner has been transferred to Victoria subdivision headquarters following three years with the Ganges detachment.

He was honored Friday night by members of the Teen Tempo Club at a dance held in Mahon Hall and presented with an inscribed desk set in appreciation of his interest in teen-age activities.

He will be replaced at the end of November by Constable K. R. Aquilon of the Fernie detachment.

William Scott Anderson, retired detective sergeant from the Vancouver police force, has been appointed stipendiary magistrate for the Gulf Islands replacing H. S. Noakes, who has taken up duties as chief magistrate at Dawson Creek.

Fred Goddard was elected president of the Old Age Pensioners Organization, Branch 32, Salt Spring Island, at the annual meeting held recently.

First annual picturama under the auspices of the Gulf Islands Camera Club was held recently at Ganges.

Mahon Hall was crowded to capacity for the evening session which featured, in addition to photographic displays, a sequence of color slides under poetic headings and with appropriate background music.

A move entitled "Vignettes of Salt Spring Island," prepared by Mrs. Mildred Seymour, was also shown.

Winners in the transparency classes were: Mrs. W. Hastings, Mrs. E. Seymour, E. A. Bishop, Mrs. J. Tomlinson, Mrs. J. W. A. Green, Barney Lucas, Jack Green, Dr. E. Jarman, E. Booth, Dr. Ted Janich, J. Tomlinson, Dr. A. Francis.

Black and white and colored print winners were W. Addy, Mrs. E. Wirth, Mrs. N. Weston, E. Butterfield, Miss J. Overend, W. Simmonds, Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, Mrs. J. W. A. Green, Mrs. D. E. Crofton, K. Taylor, M. Anderson.

Judges were Pete Frattiger and George Young.

A heated shelter with rest rooms will be erected for the comfort of Gulf Islands travelers at Swartz Bay by the department of highways. It was announced by D. G. Crofton, president of Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce.

A committee to undertake the tidying up of Ganges and to institute some form of town planning has been appointed and consists of C. R. Horel, Charles Most and Z. W. Kropinski.

Guest speaker was Lieut. Col. Seymour Park, Victoria, department of recreation and conservation. Guests were Constable H. Bonner, RCMP, Ganges, and Mrs. Bonner; Mr. and Mrs. Mill Dobson, Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris, Nanaimo, and Mr. Stanley Mullock, Pender Island.

WI Describes Busy Year At Parksville

PARKSVILLE—A busy and successful year was outlined at the annual meeting of Parksville Women's Institute. The annual report read by president Mrs. W. J. Roscow showed that a major highlight of the year was the reorganization of the local branch of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Among projects completed during the year was the wrapping of 36 Christmas gifts for mental patients, donations to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, the pennies for friendship fund, the welfare fund, and Coombs Agricultural Society.

Directors elected for 1961 are Mrs. W. J. Roscow, Mrs. Thirza Smith and Mrs. Carl Edwards. Mrs. C. Williams was elected secretary and Mrs. F. E. Brown treasurer.

$198,500 Building Started

DUNCAN—Excavation started yesterday on the site here of the new B.C. Telephone office and exchange that will house equipment for this area's automatic service.

Ian Foster, foreman for Hodgson, King and Marble Ltd., said the $198,500 building on Ingram will be completed next April or May.

The company is also constructing telephone offices at Cobble Hill, Lake Cowichan and Port Alberni.

The new building is to be made mainly of concrete and masonry and will have 7,830 square feet of floor space. The equipment section will be 54 by 56 feet with two floors, behind a one-floor office building.

Cabinet Shuffle

New Faces Not Likely

By PETER BRUTON

Long-awaited reorganization of the provincial cabinet is expected Monday but it is virtually certain that no new faces will be added at this time.

The shuffle results from the defeat of Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy in the Sept. 12 provincial election. Mr. Wicks also held the portfolio of commercial transport.

Most frequently heard speculation has it that Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan will take on the added burden of the agriculture portfolio and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black the labor post. It is also thought that Attorney-General Robert Bonner will be given the commercial transport portfolio.

Council Expected to Back Mayor's Fare Protest

City council is expected to approve today the action of Mayor Percy Scurrell in writing to the chairman of the Air Transport Board protesting against Trans-Canada Air Lines' proposed 40-per-cent fare increase.

The mayor wrote the official letter of protest and added a request for a public hearing by the board after city council unanimously, but at an informal meeting, decided to fight the fare increase.

Today's council meeting will be the first regular meeting since then.

Seattle Boats B.C. 'Hope' In Fair Year

The Century 21 world fair will be held in Seattle for six months that year.

Grey Cup Little Fever Here

While football fans pour into Vancouver from the east, travel from southern Vancouver Island for Saturday's Grey Cup game is on a more limited scale—largely because of shortage of game tickets.

Airline and bus transportation companies reported yesterday, however, bookings are brisk for additional services arranged for late Friday and Saturday.

Trans-Canada Air Lines has already added two flights to its regular 4:15 p.m. Friday departure for the mainland. One extra section has been added to both the 5:45 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. flights from Patricia Bay.

The first two morning flights to the mainland on the day of the big game have had one extra section each added.

Two special coaches will leave the Empress Hotel parking lot at 8:15 a.m. and 8:15 a.m. Saturday for Empire Stadium by way of Swartz Bay-Tasowassen ferry. The early run will get to Vancouver in time for the Grey Cup parade.

Both coaches will take their passengers to the game and return by the 7 p.m. Saturday ferry from Tasowassen.

A spokesman for Vancouver Island Coach Lines said yesterday reservations and stadium tickets are essential for those who wish to travel on the special coaches.

Extra buses will run from the V.I.C.L. downtown terminal at 6:10 a.m. Saturday if there is an overflow of passengers on the regular service to Vancouver.

School Seat Sought

NANAIMO—Nanaimo library building committee has officially turned over to the city its project of erecting a new library, and there is hope it might be completed next spring.

Alderman Jack Parker, city council representative on the library committee, said the structure will probably be built under the winter works program, but at the present moment plans do not include an auditorium. Vancouver Island regional library chairman George Darling said he thinks there may be an individual donation of $20,000 forthcoming.

One of the major contentious issues brought up at the meeting was the design and whether it is properly fitting for the type of building.

Building committee chairman Arthur Lionel said the new library would probably be similar to the police station and health centre which are on the other corners of the intersection where the library will be constructed.

FULFORD—Funeral service for Mrs. Ada Smith was held at St. Mary's Church in Fulford on Friday with Archdeacon G. H. Holmes officiating.

Mrs. Smith, who died at Lady Minto Hospital on Nov. 14, was 77. She was born in Ireland.

She leaves her husband, E. Hugh Smith at Fulford; a twin sister, Mrs. Edith Russell in Ireland, a daughter, Mrs. Muriel Archer of Vancouver, and two grandsons, Frank and Douglas Archer, a number of nieces and nephews.

DUNCAN—Kare Iverson of Honeymoon Bay was fined $25 yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop at a flashing red light at Trunk and York.

Police said when stopped he remarked that stop signs were for hanging clothing on.

Also in court, Raymond J. Harper, 20, resident here, admitted being under 21 years old with beer in his possession and was fined $10.

Some who receive a helping hand tell their own stories in letters sent in after cheques are mailed out.

"Our house was warm and cosy for the holiday as we were able to purchase some wood with part of the money," said the head of one family helped last year. "Each of our five kiddies had a present and we were able to have some of the little extras which mean so much to children at that time of year—thank you so very much."

Another said: "Please relay to all the good Victoria

citizens my warmest and heartfelt thanks for the wonderful and most welcome Christmas gift we received. It did indeed contribute in making a truly happy Christmas."

These are two of the 500

reasons why everyone who is able should give a little to the 500 Fund.

Donations may be mailed or brought to The Daily Colonist 500 Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, or left at the downtown office at 1215 Broad Street. Fund totals will be published each day.

HUGE SHOCK KILLS FIREMAN DOCTORS LOSE LONG FIGHT

"New boys" Jackie Parker and Normie Kwong proved apt pupils yesterday in admiring conservatory greenery with long-time Empress Hotel resident Mrs. L. S. Sanders. Edmonton Eskimos' star quarterback and fullback hope they will come

Space Photos Fuzzy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A space agency spokesman said yesterday "we're not getting the pictures we hoped to get" with the larger of two television cameras aboard the Tiro II weather satellite.

He said the reason has not been determined and that the trouble may clear up. The smaller of the cameras meanwhile is providing good pictures of the earth's cloud cover.

The satellite was launched at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and all instruments, it was said, appeared to be working normally.

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet news agency Tass reported the launching Wednesday of the United States Tiro II and described it as an "espionage" satellite.

The agency said it was admitted officially in the United States that Tiro satellites were designed for air espionage.

Blackout Peril Jars Hospitals

Hospital authorities, alarmed by the recent four-hour power blackout that forced them to rely on battery-powered lamps, said yesterday they are taking steps to rectify a potentially dangerous situation by installing emergency power plants.

George Masters, administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, announced yesterday a 250-horsepower generating plant costing an estimated $30,000 would be installed during construction of the new hospital wing.

LIGHTS, ELEVATOR

He said it would generate enough power to keep in operation during an emergency the operating rooms, case rooms, emergency department, refrigeration and heating, as well as corridor lighting and at least one elevator in each building.

Dr. E. N. Boettcher, medical superintendent at St. Joseph's Hospital, said it was "sheer good fortune" that no surgery was in progress when a truck hit a power pole at Bay and Douglas Nov. 10.

EMERGENCY PLANT

He said St. Joseph's Hospital was considering installing a small emergency plant that would keep one operating room and corridor lights working.

Dr. Boettcher said four hours was a "dangerously long" period for a major hospital to be without power.

INJURY AS WELL

"All too often a major power disruption is accompanied by serious injury," he said. "What would have happened if a crowded bus struck the power pole and 20 injured were rushed to a hospital without power?"

Flicker Of Life Fails

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN — A 23-year-old volunteer fireman was electrocuted here last night when he and three helpers leaned an aluminum ladder against a 6,000-volt power-line.

Dead is Alan Campbell, a native of Clinton, B.C., who was employed here by the Bank of Montreal.

GOOD CONDITION

In good condition in Duncan hospital is Robert Lewis, a fellow fireman, who was helping to raise the ladder in an effort to put out a chimney fire at a Chinatown apartment building.

Gordon and Gary Griffiths, two others who were helping, received only slight shocks.

HOLES IN SHOE

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH

The volunteer fireman, who joined the department last February, was at first thought to have been killed instantly, but finally showed flickering response after 20 minutes of mouth-to-mouth respiration.

He was rushed to King's Daughters' Hospital where a team of doctors went to work but the hospital announced a short time later that Campbell had died.

SECOND REPORT

As his employer was about to telephone the single man's parents at Clinton and while Fire Chief George Sanderson was on his way back to the fire hall to advise fellow volunteers of the tragedy, a second report from the medical team indicated the victim was responding to heart massage.

But after massaging Campbell's heart for nearly an hour doctors pronounced the fireman dead.

BLINDING FLASH

Witnesses to the accident said the electricity seemed to jump several feet to the ladder before actual contact was made with the wires. The ladder was being raised to the second storey of the apartment when there was a blinding flash.

Campbell was not wearing the usual fireman's rubber boots at the time and the streets were wet from a light rain.

Shoot to Kill Canucks Told

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—United Nations forces were placed on emergency alert in this turbulent capital Wednesday.

Canadian signalmen were told to shoot to kill if attacked by wandering bands of Congolese soldiers who are still enraged by the death of one of their senior officers and apparently are bent on revenge.

Congolese soldiers made menacing gestures at the two top UN officials in the Congo by digging military emplacements near their homes.

Lt.-Col. Joseph Kokolo, commander of the Leopoldville garrison, and three other Congolese soldiers were killed Monday night in a battle with UN Tunisian troops.

round their quarters at a school building.

Tension continued high in the city Wednesday. Congolese soldiers seized at least 40 UN vehicles, forcing their occupants out at gunpoint.

The Canadians, solidly set up in buildings described by Colonel Paul Smith, 57, Canadian signal unit commander, as "easy to defend and difficult to take," were reinforced by a platoon of tough British-trained Malayan jungle fighters and may later get a company of Tunisians to defend the perimeter of the school grounds.

MOVED BACK

Orders to shoot to kill are to take effect only if Congolese soldiers attack the school and only when given by an officer.

Officers living in apartments near the school have moved back to the school quarters—two wings of dormitories linked to a central headquarters on the school grounds.

Canadians are not permitted off the grounds except for shift changes at the UN headquarters message centre, about half a mile away.

WHEN OR HOW

The Canadians continue to wear side arms at all times, with officers and NCOs equipped with automatic pistols and other ranks with sub-machine guns. From the time they arrived here in August until Monday night's shooting, they had not been armed.

Infected throat kept Eskimos halfback Rolie Miles and two other members of the team away from damp Royal Athletic Park scrimmage yesterday but up to last night had done nothing to prevent west's Grey Cup contender from becoming six-point favorites.—(Ryan Bros. photo.)

Full-Scale Commons Debate Likely on South Africa

Special To The Colonist

OTTAWA — The Canadian House of Commons will probably engage in another full-scale debate on South Africa at this session.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker indicated in the Commons Wednesday that the members will be able to express their views "on matters of signal importance to the Commonwealth" before the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference next year, probably in March.

South Africa is again on the agenda as an important item for the conference. Since the prime ministers last met at the last conference that if such an application was made, all member countries would have to agree before South Africa would be allowed to continue its membership.

The prime ministers agreed with possession of stolen goods, said in a letter to Chief Justice Clinton Ford that Medicine Hat police had told him a city magistrate would let him off more easily if he pleaded guilty.

It was the third such appeal heard by the court since sittings began Monday morning.

"I wonder," said Chief Justice Ford, "why so many prisoners are saying they were promised specific terms in jail before they went to court. This is getting under my skin. Is it going around among the criminals that this is a good excuse, or are some of the complaints true? I sincerely hope the practice isn't general. I hope our officers aren't doing this."

"I realize that this charge has been levelled before, but it is heard awfully frequently this sitting."

Channing's appeal against a three-year sentence was unanimously dismissed.

'Copped Out' for Light Term, Third Man Says

CALGARY (CP) — A third prisoner in two days told the appellate division of supreme court Tuesday he had "copped out" — pleaded guilty — because he had been told his sentence would be lighter.

John A. Channing, charged with possession of stolen goods, said in a letter to Chief Justice Clinton Ford that Medicine Hat police had told him a city magistrate would let him off more easily if he pleaded guilty.

It was the third such appeal heard by the court since sittings began Monday morning.

"I wonder," said Chief Justice Ford, "why so many prisoners are saying they were promised specific terms in jail before they went to court. This is getting under my skin.
